INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this handbook is to provide a reference guide to assist Senate Members to perform their duties effectively.

1. CONSTITUTION OF THE UNIVERSITY

In common with the other “ancient” Scottish Universities, and in contrast to the position in nearly all other pre-1992 Universities which are established by Royal Charters, the University of Edinburgh is constituted by the Universities (Scotland) Acts 1858 to 1996 and secondary or subordinate legislations: Ordinances, Resolutions and Statutory Instruments(SIs)/Secondary Statutory Instruments (SSIs). The Universities (Scotland) Acts make specific provision for three major bodies in the governance of the University:

- The University Court
- The Senatus Academicus
- The General Council

Further information can be found at: http://www.ed.ac.uk/schools-departments/governance-strategic-planning/governance

1.1 The University Court

The University Court (hereafter ‘Court’) is the University’s governing body and is the legal persona of the University. The present powers of the Court are defined in the Universities (Scotland) Act 1966 and as amended by Ordinances/SIs/SSIs. They include, among others, the amendment of the composition, powers and functions of bodies in the University and the creation of new bodies, the administration and management of the whole revenue and property of the University, internal arrangements of the University, appointments, review of decisions of the Senatus Academicus (‘Senate’), and, on the recommendation of the Senate, the regulation of degrees and admission and discipline of students.

The 1966 Act stipulates the procedures by which Court may exercise its powers. These are:

- by Ordinance, which requires consultation with the General Council and the Senatus and then Privy Council approval;
- by Resolution, which similarly requires consultation with the General Council and Senatus but not approval by Privy Council;
- or by simple decision without the stated requirement for formal consultation

Emergency procedures are stipulated in the Act to accelerate the Ordinance and Resolution procedures in cases of urgency. Meetings of the Court are normally held five times a year. The University, as appropriate, initiates robust internal consultation and consultation with relevant external bodies and individuals and the outcome of these consultations are considered by Court as part of the decision making process. Further information on the Court can be found at:
University Court is supported in its work by six Standing Committees: Audit and Risk Committee; Committee on University Benefactors; Exception Committee; Nominations Committee; Policy and Resources Committee; and Remuneration Committee.

1.1.1 Senatus Academicus representation on University Court

Senate currently elects to the University Court four Assessors, of whom at least one must be a professor and at least one a non-professorial member of the academic staff. The four Senate Assessors on University Court are:

When a vacancy arises for Assessors on Court, the Secretary will invite nominations to fill it. Each nomination should be signed by two Members of Senate who will be deemed to have formally proposed and seconded the nominee.¹ A Committee known as a Scrutinising Committee will be appointed by Senate to scrutinise nominations, to confirm the validation of the nominations and hear any appeal against disqualification by the Returning Officer. The Committee will consist of a representative of the University Court, a representative of Senate and a representative of the University Secretary.² An election will be required if more than one nomination is received for a vacancy. The voting will be by secret ballot. Regulations for the conduct of an election will be approved by an Ordinary Meeting of Senate and circulated to members of Senate.³

1.2 The Senatus Academicus

Senate is the supreme academic body of the University and has responsibility for superintending and regulating teaching and discipline at the University.⁴ Senate’s role includes:

- Directing, regulating and promoting the teaching and research of the University;
- Discussing matters of strategic importance for learning, teaching and research development;
- Approving the award of degrees, including honorary degrees⁵
- Maintaining the quality and standards of the University’s awards⁶

¹ Order 23 of the Senatus Standing Orders
² Order 24 of the Senatus Standing Orders
³ Order 25 of the Senatus Standing Orders
⁴ Senate derives its power from Universities (Scotland) Act 1858 as amended by Universities (Scotland) Act 1889.
⁵ The Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor, a Vice-Principal, or the most senior professor present confers degrees, or honorary degrees, on behalf of the Senatus, at the Conferring ceremony.
⁶ Delegated to the Quality Assurance Committee.
• Setting the academic regulatory framework\textsuperscript{7}
• Regulating conduct of the students of the University
• Setting the high level policy and strategy on the advice and recommendation of the Senate committees working within the strategic direction contained within the University’s Strategic Plan approved by Court and its underlying strategies
• Recommending or reporting to the Court as it may require
• Reporting to the Court on any matter referred to the Senate by the Court
• Making a request to Court for a Resolution
• Commenting on draft Resolutions
• Approving the conferment of emeritus status on retiring professors of the University
• Communicating policies approved by Senate or Senate committees

In order to implement certain decisions arising from these roles, Senate is required to recommend to Court the creation of a resolution. These include, for example, recommendations to institute new degree qualifications, to institute regulations for the awarding of degrees and to institute regulations governing student conduct.

Senate meets three times in each academic year. In addition there are three electronic distributions of non-contentious papers. Senate has delegated its authority to the Senate Standing Committees in a number of different areas which are covered in the Senate Standing Committees’ terms of reference. Further information on Senate can be found at: http://www.ed.ac.uk/academic-services/committees/senate

The General Council\textsuperscript{8} (hereafter ‘the Council’) consists of ex officio members during their terms of office; the Chancellor; the members of the University Court; the professors; the readers, senior lecturers and lecturers who have been in post for a year or more; all persons on whom the University has conferred degrees or the title of Honorary Fellow of the University; and those former members of the University Court, former professors and retired readers, senior lecturers and lecturers who have held office for at least three years, who have elected to maintain their membership. The number of registered members as at 23 July 2018 was 225,001.

The Council elects the Chancellor of the University and three Assessors on the University Court. According to the Act of 1858 ‘(the General Council) shall be competent to take into their consideration all questions affecting the well-being and prosperity of the University, and to make representations from time to time, on such questions to the Court, who shall consider the same and return to the council their deliverance thereon’; and the Court shall have power ‘to effect improvements in the internal arrangements of the University, after due communication with Senate, and with the sanction of the Chancellor; provided that all such proposed improvements shall be submitted to the University Council for their consideration’.

\textsuperscript{7} Delegated to the Curriculum and Student Progression Committee.
\textsuperscript{8} The General Council was instituted by the Universities (Scotland) Act 1858; its constitution and functions have been defined and altered by subsequent Universities (Scotland) and the Representation of the People (Scotland) Acts and Ordinances.
By the 1966 Act, the General Council was accorded power to consider both Ordinances and Resolutions in draft. The General Council also receives an annual report of the work and activities of the University and an audited financial statement. The work of the Council is conducted by its Business Committee.

Two statutory meetings of the General Council are held annually. Further information on the General Council including access to video coverage of the Council’s statutory half-yearly meetings, can be found at the following URL: http://www.general-council.ed.ac.uk/

2. UNIVERSITY GROUPS

The following bodies play important roles in the internal governance and academic operations of the University.

University Executive: The Executive’s purpose is to contribute to the development of the University’s strategic objectives and to oversee their implementation and delivery. Also, to act as a forum for decision-making and discussion of management and operational matters.

The Executive’s remit is to:
- Develop the University’s strategic objectives and support the Principal in overseeing their implementation and delivery
- Agree and oversee the implementation of policies, procedures and plans
- Develop and monitor delivery of University business planning objectives
- Manage and monitor organisational performance
- Facilitate and agree cross-University activity and communications
- Scrutinise items prior to submission to the University Court and its Committees
- Oversee other University operational committees and groups

Learning and Teaching Policy Group (LTPG): LTPG provides strategic leadership, monitors progress on learning and teaching issues, and coordinates and prioritises the work of the four Senate standing committees and the Vice- and Assistant-Principals with responsibilities for learning and teaching. It consists of the Senior Vice-Principal, all Vice- and Assistant- Principals with responsibilities for learning and teaching, and relevant senior professional services staff.

Fees Strategy Group: The group’s role is to enable the consideration of overall strategic issues relating to fees, advise CMG on shorter-term issues, provide guidance for decisions on fee setting within planning processes and advise CMG on indicative longer-term fees goals and on positioning within the sector. The Group formally reports to CMG and, as required, onto Policy and Resources Committee and Court.

Space Enhancement and Management Group: The Group’s role is to consider, develop, review, monitor, and recommend changes to space management policies to achieve the University’s space management objectives. It reports to CMG and, as required, to Estates Committee, Policy and Resources Committee and Court.

Equality and Diversity Management Committee: This Committee was established to assist the University in meeting its legal obligation in relation to equality, including reporting and publishing requirements, in particular in relation to the Equality Act 2010 and the related Equality Act 2010
(Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012. The Committee is responsible for advising and supporting the development of policy and strategy, setting management and operational priorities for Equality and Diversity and monitoring delivery. The Committee reports to CMG and as required onward to the People Committee, Policy and Resources Committee and the Court.

Health and Safety Committee: The Committee’s role is to oversee the implementation and operation of the University’s health and safety policy and arrangements, to ensure that key risks are identified, and that appropriate control measures are implemented thus maximising the protection of the health of staff, students and visitors and ensuring compliance with legislative and common law requirements. The Committee reports to CMG and, as required, to the Audit and Risk Committee and to Court.

Information on all of the above Committees can be found at the following URL: http://www.ed.ac.uk/schools-departments/governance-strategic-planning/governance/university-committees/othercommitteesandgroups

Finance Strategy Group: The Group’s role is to advise the Principal on strategic financial issues.

Social Responsibility and Sustainability Committee: SRS Committee was established to advise Central Management Group on how the University might differentiate itself as a leader in Social Responsibility and Sustainability (SRS) and take action to maximize its reputation and impact in this area. More information on the Committee can be found at the following URL: http://www.ed.ac.uk/about/sustainability/governance-publications-reports/committees/srsc

3. ACADEMIC GOVERNANCE AT THE UNIVERSITY

Academic Governance refers to the way that academic matters are governed; it is separate and distinct from corporate governance. Senate, as the supreme academic body of the University, is responsible for the academic governance of the University. It discharges its responsibilities in accordance with statutory legislation. The composition of Senate is controlled by University Ordinance 204. The Senate reports regularly to the University Court. In turn, it receives regular reports from the University Court and from each of the four Senate Standing Committees. It receives reports from other Senate Committees as the business requires it.

3.1 Senate Committees

Senate has the power to appoint committees as it considers necessary to carry out its functions and responsibilities. These committees need not be composed entirely of its own membership. Senate may delegate to any committee such powers as the Senate may think fit. Senate also has the power to abolish existing Committees. Senate may appoint members to Joint Committees responsible to both the Senate and the University Court. With respect to delegated authority, Senate retains oversight through reporting from the relevant Committee as appropriate. Senate Standing Committees report annually to Senate on their activity for the year and request Senate’s approval for their planned strategy for the year ahead.

Further information about the committee is available at the following URL: www.ed.ac.uk/schools-departments/governance-strategic-planning/governance/university-committees/jointsentatandcount/knowledgestrategycommittee
3.2 Senate Committee Membership

When filling membership vacancies, Senate committees are mindful of the need to manage membership rotation in order to assure business continuity. The Standing Orders of Senate advise that there should be a balance between continuity of committee membership and the opportunity for regular fresh input. Senate and Senate’s Standing Committees include student representation arranged by Edinburgh University Students’ Association.

3.3 Senate Committees’ Annual Review and Report

The standing committees of Senate submit an annual report to the final Senate meeting of the academic year. The report provides an overview of the major items of business completed by the committees over the past academic year and proposes strategic issues for the committees to focus on for the next academic year and beyond, for approval by Senate.

3.4 Devolution of Powers of the Senate

In 2006 the following powers of Senate were devolved:

- Senate has the authority to admit, examine and withdraw students and to grant permissions, concessions and exemptions

These powers of Senate were devolved to the College Level. In exceptional circumstances a concession to allow relaxation of a specific regulation may be granted by the appropriate Head of College. Where the Head of College does not have authority to award a particular concession, the Curriculum and Student Progression Committee may award the concession.

11 See Paper D1 Devolution of Powers of Senate, Senate 22 March 2006.
• Senate is responsible for course and programme approval\(^{12}\)

Detailed programme proposals are considered by the school Board of Studies. They are then transmitted to the College Learning and Teaching Committee or equivalent for approval. Proposals which comply with the University’s curriculum framework and academic year structure, or have no wider implications are approved at this level. The Senate Curriculum and Student Progression Committee considers all other programme proposals. Where the programme requires the institution of a new degree qualification a resolution is required.

Responsibilities and Expectations of Senate Members

Be collegial and constructive in approach

Attend each meeting and participate fully in the work of the Senate. This will involve looking ahead and consulting/gathering input in order to provide the broad spectrum of thoughts and opinions which are necessary for proper consideration of the area being discussed

Uphold the "seven principles of public life": selflessness, integrity, objectivity, accountability, openness, honesty and leadership

18 See Paper e-S 17/18 1 C approved by Senate in September 2017 which covers the Students’ Association Representation on Senate.
8. FORMAT OF E-SENATE AND SENATE

8.1 E-Senate

Senate has authority to conduct business electronically. Each meeting of the Senate is preceded by an electronic Senate through which the majority of the routine formal business is conducted. Items of e-business are posted on the Senate webpage for eight days, during which time members are invited to submit any comments, observations or reservations by email to senate.support@ed.ac.uk. Any comments are posted verbatim on a webpage accessible to those within the ed.ac.uk domain. Nil response from members is regarded as agreement.

Following the close of electronic business the Principal considers any comments received and decides, consulting as appropriate, whether the business may be concluded or should be referred to the Senate meeting. Any comments made are posted online (accessible only to University account holders). The e-Senate allows most of the formal Senate business to be dealt with electronically, thereby freeing up time at meetings for the discussion of high level academic issues. Any formal business not resolved via the e-Senate is referred to the next Senate meeting. The outcome of electronic business is reported at the next Senate meeting.

8.2 Senate Meeting

Senate meets three times per year in each of October, February and June. Meetings begin with a presentation and discussion session on an issue of strategic importance, followed by consideration of any formal business. The agenda and papers are posted on the Senate web pages one week in advance of the meeting.

If members require any specific support to be put in place in order to attend the meeting of Senate (e.g. British Sign Language requirements), they are invited to inform Senate Support at: Senate.Support@ed.ac.uk so that arrangements can be made.

The agenda for a meeting of Senate typically comprises 3-4 sections:

Presentation and discussion: Senate receives presentations on a high level academic matter intended to generate discussion. Copies of Senate presentations are made available, where possible, on the Senate webpages: www.ed.ac.uk/academic-services/committees/senate/presentation-and-discussion

The Presentation and Discussion section of the meeting runs for 90 minutes.

Presentations and Discussion themes to be considered in 18/19 are as follows:

- Teaching and Academic Careers; and the Accessible and Inclusive Learning Policy
- The Research Excellence Framework
- Curriculum Reform

19 See Order 8 of the Senatus Standing Orders
Tea/coffee break: The Tea/Coffee break lasts 20 minutes.

Formal business for consideration: This may include changes to University academic policies or the introduction of new academic initiatives for which Senate approval is required. It may also include items for information or on which Senate’s observations are sought.

Closed business: Closed papers are usually sent by email to Senate members a week in advance of the meeting. Those who receive papers ‘for information’ may request a copy of the closed papers. They are not posted on the webpages (since these are publicly accessible). Papers which are categorised as ‘closed’ must have an exemption under the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act or contain information which cannot be released due to the Data Protection Act.

Reserved business (if required): In the rare event of there being an item of reserved business that requires discussion, the Chair will ask all non-members of Senate and all associate members to leave for the duration of the discussion.

8.3 Contribution of Members

A Senate member wishing to take part in any discussion shall rise and address him/herself to the President. A Senate member should make it known to the President of Senate they wish to speak, whereupon the President permits the Senate member to speak.

8.4 Setting of Dates of Ordinary Senate Meetings

The dates of meetings in any academic year shall be determined by the Senate at the final Ordinary Meeting of the previous academic year and published on the University’s web site. In practice, the dates are set by the Head of Court Services in order to ensure that University Committees’ business cycles are aligned.

8.5 Special Meetings of Senate

Special Meetings may be called by resolution of the Senate or by the Principal, or on a requisition specifying the object signed by twelve members of Senate. Save in exceptional circumstances, a Special Meeting will be held within fourteen days of being called, and notice of the time, place, and reason for such a Meeting will be given to members by the Secretary as far as possible in advance: Special Meetings will not normally be held outside semester.

8.6 Graduation Meetings

A Graduation Meeting shall precede each Graduation Ceremonial, in order to approve the list of Graduands. At a Graduation Meeting, other business of a non-contentious character may, at the discretion of the President, be transacted. In practice, this occurs extremely rarely.

20 See Order 18 of the Senatus Standing Orders
21 See Order 2 of the Senatus Standing Orders
22 See Order 3 of the Senatus Standing Orders
8.7 Senate Exception Committee

Senate Exception Committee has delegated authority to make urgent business decisions which would otherwise require the Senate approval between the meetings of Senate.23

9. PROPOSING BUSINESS

Motions which members wish to bring forward to any meeting must be communicated in writing (this can be by email to Senate.Support@ed.ac.uk) to the Secretary of Senate in time to be entered on the Agenda (referred to as the Billet in the Senate Standing Orders). All motions must be proposed and seconded.24 In practice, this must take place 10 days before the Senate meeting, see the deadline dates for receipt of Senate and e-Senate papers listed below in Section 12.

10. DEFINING THE NATURE OF BUSINESS

The business of Senate can be Open, Closed, Reserved or Discussion based. Within each of these categories the item may be presented to Senate (a) for approval, (b) for formal noting or (c) for information. Open business constitutes the bulk of items falling within the jurisdiction of Senate. The only business which can be categorised as Closed is that which has (a) an exemption under the Freedom of Information Act or (b) information which cannot be released due to the Data Protection Act.

The Recommendation of Honorary Degree Report prepared by the Honorary Degrees Committee is an example of business which is Closed under the Freedom of Information Act. Business is only Reserved when it requires students and non-Senate members to leave the meeting.

10.1 Records Management, Data Protection and Freedom of Information

Members should ensure that they have an awareness of the implications of information legislation. Key points to note are:

- Members’ notes could be subject to an information request. Good practice is for members to dispose of any notes once any actions are complete and to dispose of any papers after the meeting.

- If members receive an information request relating to Senate, they should always refer it to the Senate Clerk for action as soon as possible as there are timescales to be adhered to when processing a request.

Committee secretaries are trained in the implications of Freedom of Information and Data Protection legislation for committee servicing. In practice, this means that they will be able to advise on the classification of committee business (open or closed) and write minutes in the appropriate manner and format.

23 See Order 9 of the Senatus Standing Orders.
24 See Order 7 of the Senatus Standing Orders
Members should note that agendas, papers and minutes of open committee business will be publicly available on the University’s website.

Senate Clerk, Theresa Sheppard (Academic Policy Officer)
Terms used by Senate Committees

Senate Committee: A Senate committee is a body established by Senate. A Senate committee has delegated authority on behalf of Senate to undertake specific actions, roles or responsibilities set out in its terms of reference. Standing Committees of Senate may recommend the direction of the academic strategy which is considered and approved by Senate. Any changes to the Senate committee’s terms of reference and composition must be approved by Senate.

Sub-Committee: A sub-committee is a body normally created by its parent Committee to carry out one or more aspects of that Committee’s work (the parent Committee) for the indefinite future and may relate to specific operational issues on behalf of the parent Committee.

Advisory Group: An advisory group to a Senate Committee is established to provide expert advice on a particular issue or project.

Task Group: The work of Senate and its Senate committees is supported by limited life task groups. Task groups are assigned a specific body of work which will be outlined in a remit and the membership will reflect the task in hand. A task group’s membership need not necessarily be comprised of committee members. A task group reports to its parent committee on a regular basis. Joint Senate committee task groups can be established. In these circumstances the joint task group’s terms of reference and composition is approved by both parent committees. The joint task group reports regularly to both parent committees. It is for the parent committee to decide the format it wishes to receive reports and recommendations from the task group. Once the task group has completed its business, it will be stood down.

Terms of Reference: Terms of reference, sometimes referred to as a remit, describe the purpose and structure of a committee. Typically they contain the purpose and role; the remit; composition; governance and operational arrangements.

Convener: The role of the Convener of a Senate Committee is to ensure the effective conduct of the committee (within the terms of reference), ensuring that the business is being progressed and facilitating meaningful discussion and sound decision-making.

Co-opted members: A member selected for a committee, normally due to their expertise. Co-opted members normally serve for a fixed term as defined in the terms of reference.

In attendance: The Convener may invite individuals by invitation for specific meetings or agenda items. Note individuals who are ‘in attendance’ at a Committee meeting are not members.
Appendix Two

Emeritus Professors Procedure

1. Eligibility for Emeritus status

Emeritus status is awarded to professors of the University of Edinburgh who are retiring from their personal or established chair and who have made a distinguished contribution to the life of the University. When seeking approval for Emeritus status on behalf of a retiring professor, the College will produce a Special Minute which formally recognises their distinguished contributions during their careers (see Section 3).

Emeritus status will not be awarded to a professor who leaves to take up a professorial position with another academic institution or to Honorary Professors.

The title of Emeritus Professor does not have a limited time period. Where an individual has been awarded Emeritus Professor designation, and subsequently returns temporarily to a role within the University at Professorial level, which requires a contract and payment by the University of Edinburgh, they may be granted the title of ‘Professorial Fellow.’ Their Emeritus Professor designation will be held in abeyance until their contract with the University at Professorial level has ended.

2. Contribution to the University and Access to Resources

Emeritus Professors are experienced academics who are held in high regard by both former colleagues and the wider University community. While there is no requirement for Emeritus Professors to make a contribution to the University, they are nonetheless an important part of University life. They should therefore be regarded as properly part of the University community and should be given every appropriate opportunity to contribute to it.

Emeritus Professors are entitled to access to University resources, including library services and email, plus additional resources if they are bringing in money for the University.

3. Approval of Emeritus Status

Approval for Emeritus status must be sought at the point that the professor retires from their personal or established chair. When a Professor indicates their intention to retire from their personal or established chair, the relevant Head of School must consider whether Emeritus status is warranted and, when this has been confirmed, request approval from the Head of College.

If the Head of College approves the award, they should inform the Head of School and request the preparation of a Special Minute. The Special Minute is a brief statement of around 500-550 words on the distinguished contribution that the Professor has made to the University of the Edinburgh and a note on how they intend to spend their retirement. Care should be taken to ensure the accuracy of the Special Minute, since a copy will be retained in the University records.

The Head of College must then contact the Senate Support team in Academic Services with a copy of the approval and the Special Minute, requesting approval for Emeritus Status for the retiring professor.

29 Hereafter, ‘Head of School’ may refer to the Head of School or suitably delegated member of staff.
The Senate Support team will then submit the name of the retiring professor, along with the Special Minute, to Senate for formal approval. Emeritus Professor appointments will carry the title of their former Chair or discipline. (For example, the holder of the Buchanan Chair of Genetics would become an Emeritus Professor of Genetics). When the retiring professor is female, the title of Emerita Professor can be awarded.

If Senate approves the conferment of Emeritus Status, the Senate Support team will write to the professor to confirm that they have been awarded Emeritus Status and will enclose a copy of the Special Minute. Copies of the letter will be sent to the Head of College.

4. Withdrawal of Emeritus Status

Awards of Emeritus status do not have a limited time period. However, there are circumstances under which the status may be withdrawn, as set out below:

- Where the individual has accepted a contract of employment with the University at Professorial level, meaning that their Emeritus Professor designation has been held in abeyance (see section 1).
- Where the actions of the individual, either within or outwith the University, could result, or have resulted, in negative publicity for the University
- Where the individual has been found to have breached University policies or procedures, and where that breach would have ordinarily led to formal disciplinary action, if the holder of Emeritus status had been an employee of the University.

Any proposal to withdraw Emeritus status must be agreed by the relevant Head of College and communicated to Senate before it is communicated to the individual concerned.
