Divinity & Religious Studies
“Edinburgh isn’t so much a city, more a way of life … I doubt I’ll ever tire of exploring Edinburgh, on foot or in print.”

Ian Rankin
Best-selling author and alumnus
Influencing the world since 1583

For more than 400 years the University of Edinburgh has been changing the world. Our staff and students have explored space, won Nobel Prizes and revolutionised surgery. They’ve published era-defining books, run the country, made life-saving breakthroughs and laid the foundations to solve the mysteries of the universe.

Our distinguished alumni include NASA astronaut Piers Sellers, former MI5 Director-General Dame Stella Rimington, Olympians Sir Chris Hoy and Dame Katherine Grainger, and historical greats such as philosopher David Hume, suffragist Chrystal Macmillan, who founded the Women’s International League for Peace and Freedom, and physicist and mathematician James Clerk Maxwell.

International collaboration
An internationally renowned centre for academic excellence, we forge world-class collaborations with partners such as the California Institute of Technology (Caltech), Stanford University, the University of Melbourne, Peking University, the University of Delhi and the University of KwaZulu-Natal. As a member of the League of European Research Universities and the Coimbra Group, we link up with leading institutions across Europe.

Linking research and commerce
We were one of the first UK universities to develop commercial links with industry, government and the professions. Edinburgh Innovations promotes and commercialises our research excellence and can assist you in taking the first step to market, through collaborative research, licensing technology or consultancy.

Enhancing your career
We are committed to embedding employability in your University experience and have an impressive track record for graduate employment. From volunteering schemes to our sector-leading careers service, we provide you with opportunities to develop your skills, knowledge and experience, giving you an edge in the competitive job market.

TOP 50
We’re consistently ranked one of the top 50 universities in the world. We’re 20th in the 2020 QS World University Rankings.

4th
We’re ranked fourth in the UK for research power, based on the 2014 Research Excellence Framework.*

83%
The majority of our research – 83 per cent – is considered world leading or internationally excellent.*

TOP 100
We are ranked in the top 10 in the UK and in the top 100 in the world for the employability of our graduates.†

£403m
In 2017/18 we won £403 million in competitive research grants.

19
There are 19 Nobel Prize winners who are alumni of the University or have been members of academic staff here.

22nd
We’re ranked 22nd in the world’s most international universities.‡ Since 2010, we have taught students from more than 160 countries.

* Times Higher Education, Overall Ranking of Institutions
† Times Higher Education, Global Employability University Ranking 2018
‡ Times Higher Education: The World’s Most International Universities 2019

Influencing the world since 1583

13 Nov 2019
Postgraduate Open Day
www.ed.ac.uk/postgraduate-open-day

twitter.com/applyedinburgh facebook.com/applyedinburgh youtube.com/edinburghuniversity
instagram.com/applyedinburgh
Taught masters programmes

We offer six taught masters programmes, most of which can be taken either as a Master of Theology (MTh) or a Master of Science (MSc), the difference being one of name only.

Our taught masters programmes are designed to deepen knowledge in a subject you will typically have studied at undergraduate level, although they can in some cases offer a new direction in your academic career.

Taught masters programmes take 12 months, consisting of two semesters of taught courses followed by an individually supervised dissertation. They can also be studied part-time over two years by UK and EU students.

See also…
You may also be interested in postgraduate programmes offered by other Schools, particularly the Schools of History, Classics & Archaeology; Literature, Languages & Cultures; Philosophy, Psychology & Language Sciences; and Social & Political Science.

www.ed.ac.uk/studying/prospectus-request

Websites of taught masters programmes

www.ed.ac.uk/pg/57
Biblical Studies

MTh or MSc 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

Programme description
This programme is for students who wish to develop expertise in biblical studies, including those who want to prepare for a PhD. Its emphasis is on adding depth and breadth to expertise in biblical languages. Finely honed language skills are central to the programme’s engagement with the Bible, the world that produced it, and its later readers. The programme provides expert in-depth study of the Hebrew Bible and New Testament, the wider ancient Near East and Mediterranean World, and related extra-biblical literature including the Dead Sea Scrolls. You will be taught by leading academics with research interests in the Hebrew Bible, New Testament, early Judaism and early Christianity. You will benefit from weekly research seminars in biblical studies and from our Centre for the Study of Christian Origins.

Programme structure
This programme is taught over one year full-time (or two years part-time), mainly in small classroom/seminar groups. You will receive research methods training, offering a practical approach to postgraduate-level critical investigation and writing skills, and individual supervision for your 15,000-word dissertation.

COMPULSORY COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:

Our compulsory courses comprise two biblical language/reading courses, in Greek or Hebrew/Aramaic, and two in research methods. Many scenarios for language study can be chosen in consultation with the Programme Director. If you have only one year’s prior biblical language study you may take Intermediate Biblical Hebrew or Intermediate New Testament Greek.

OPTION COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:

You will choose three options. At least two must be from biblical studies courses such as: Hebrew Bible in Historical Critical Perspective; Hebrew Scripture Theology; The New Testament in its Graeco-Roman Context; Science and Scripture. With your Programme Director’s agreement, you may also choose options from other taught masters or from advanced undergraduate courses such as Historical Jesus or Jesus in Film.

Career opportunities
This programme is designed to provide a strong foundation for postgraduate research in the field or for employment in a range of areas requiring critical analysis and empathetic understanding.

Entry requirements
A UK 2:1 honours degree with a mark of at least 65 per cent or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), in theology/religious studies or a related field in which biblical studies features prominently.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Programme Director
Dr Matthew Novenson
Email matthew.novenson@ed.ac.uk

“Choosing New College for both my masters and PhD has been one of the best decisions I’ve ever made. The world-class quality of academic instruction and research, the warm and vibrant postgraduate community, and the relationships I’ve formed with both students and staff members have all been invaluable in preparing me for both academic and personal success.”

Sarah Lane Ritchie, Masters and PhD in Divinity
Lecturer in Theology and Science, The University of Edinburgh

www.ed.ac.uk/pg/589
Islam & Christian-Muslim Relations*

MSc 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

*Subject to approval

Programme description
This newly approved programme offers a deep and broad study of the rich intellectual traditions of Islamic law, theology and philosophy in conversation with Christian thought, ethics and political theology. The dialogical framework of the programme allows you to study multiple disciplines in both Islamic and Christian thought and practice, not as mere historical artefacts, but as resources that transform the academic study of religion and engage public debates on the place of Islam, Christianity, and religion in society. The programme offers you opportunities for study and collaboration with world-renowned academics, with a view to tailoring a personalised path to doctoral study or to another relevant career.

Programme structure
This programme is taught over one year full-time (or two years part-time), mainly in small classroom/seminar groups. You will receive research methods training, offering a practical approach to postgraduate-level critical investigation and writing skills, and individual supervision for your 15,000-word dissertation.

COMPULSORY COURSES PROPOSED INCLUDE:
In your compulsory courses, you will receive a strong grounding in the major themes and methodologies in the academic study of Islam, and an appreciation of the philosophical, theological, and ethical debates between Christians and Muslims in different times and places.

OPTION COURSES PROPOSED INCLUDE:
You may choose courses in Islamic Literature; Islam, Law and Human Rights; Islam, Gender and Ethics; and African Religious Diversity. You will also have the option of courses in Christian theology and history, or courses offered by Islamic and Middle Eastern Studies.

Career opportunities
This programme is designed to prepare you for PhD work in the field or for careers with Non-Governmental Organisations (NGOs) or in academic publishing, think tanks, religious leadership, or national and international civil services.

Entry requirements
A UK 2:1 honours degree or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), with a mark of at least 65 per cent or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), in theology/religious studies, or a relevant humanities subject (such as theology/religious studies, philosophy, or history).

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Programme Director
Dr Shadabah Rahemtulla
Email divinity.pg@ed.ac.uk

www.ed.ac.uk/pg/611
Religious Studies

MSc 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

Programme description
This programme provides the opportunity to study a variety of religious traditions, in combination with advanced learning in the theory and method of the study of religion. Religious beliefs, behaviours and institutions are fascinating and powerful components in human societies. Understanding their motivations and structures can help to find solutions to major challenges in the contemporary world. This programme allows a deepening engagement with the methodological ramifications of the field, while encouraging in-depth study of one or more religious traditions. The focus extends beyond theory and method in religious studies to specific local, national and international religious traditions. You can study Jewish, Christian, Islamic and Indian traditions, as well as indigenous religions of Africa, North America and East Asia, and new age and diasporic traditions. This combination of theoretical know-how with studies in specific traditions equips you to compare, interpret and explain religion in a cross-cultural perspective. The programme also offers the opportunity to learn Sanskrit, Arabic or Persian (subject to availability) through our leading expertise in Asian Studies and in Islamic and Middle Eastern Studies.

Programme structure
This programme is taught over one year full-time (or two years part-time), mainly in small classroom/seminar groups. You will receive research methods training, offering a practical approach to postgraduate-level critical investigation and writing skills, and individual supervision for your 15,000-word dissertation.

COMPULSORY COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:
Theory and Method in the Study of Religion; with one further course from the options specific to this programme and two courses in research methods.

OPTION COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:
You will choose three options. At least one must be a religious studies course, such as: Contemporary Theories of Religion; Hindu Traditions: Critical Investigations; From Diatribe to Dialogue in Christian-Muslim Relations; New Age Spirituality in Contemporary Culture. With your Programme Director’s agreement, you may also choose options from other taught masters, language courses, or advanced undergraduate courses.

Career opportunities
This programme is designed to provide a strong foundation for postgraduate research in the field or for employment in a range of areas requiring critical analysis and empathetic understanding.

Entry requirements
A UK 2:1 honours degree with a mark of at least 65 per cent or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), in theology/religious studies or in a relevant field within humanities and social sciences.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Programme Director
Dr Hannah Holtzscheider
Email h.holtzscheider@ed.ac.uk

www.ed.ac.uk/divinity
Key FT: Full time. PT: Part time.

The University of Edinburgh
Divinity & Religious Studies Postgraduate Opportunities 2020

Taught masters programmes

www.ed.ac.uk/divinity
Taught masters programmes

Science & Religion

MSc 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

Programme description
This dedicated masters programme in science and religion is intended for students who wish to engage in the advanced interdisciplinary study of science and religion, including those who wish to prepare for subsequent PhD work. This is one of the world’s very few science and religion programmes. Much of the recent debate surrounding ‘new atheism’ has taken place within a poorly informed view of the history and philosophy of science and its relationship with religion. This programme aims to inform and engage with the debate in depth, looking at it from scientific, philosophical, historical, ethical and theological perspectives.

The history of science is studied from ancient times through the modern scientific revolution, together with philosophical trends in our understanding of reality. The main areas of dialogue include the modern scientific revolution, together with philosophical history of Christianity.

Programme structure
This programme is taught over one year full-time (or two years part-time), mainly in small classroom/seminar groups. You will receive research methods training, offering a practical approach to postgraduate-level critical investigation and writing skills, and individual supervision for your 15,000-word dissertation.

COMPULSORY COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:

- History of Science and Religion in the Christian Tradition
- Cosmism, Cell and Creator: Current Debates in Science and Religion
- and two courses in research methods.

OPTION COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:

- You will choose three options from science and religion courses, such as: History of Science in Religion; Philosophy of Time; Philosophy of Science: Contemporary Debates; Science and Religion in Literature; Science and Scripture. With your Programme Director’s agreement, you may also choose options from other taught masters, language courses, or advanced undergraduate courses.

Career opportunities
This programme is designed to provide a strong foundation for postgraduate research in the field or for employment in a range of areas requiring critical analysis and empathetic understanding.

Entry requirements
A UK 2:1 honours degree with a mark of at least 65 per cent or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), in a core natural science subject (such as physics, chemistry or biology) or a humanities subject relevant to the science-religion dialogue (such as theology/religious studies, philosophy, or history).

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Programme Director
Professor Mark Harris
Email mark.harris@ed.ac.uk

Theology in History

MTh or MSc 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

Programme description
This flexible programme looks at the Christian past from a variety of perspectives – theological, philosophical and historical – and provides specialist theological study of themes from the early church to modern times.

The programme will enable you to understand and reflect critically upon the historical contexts in which Christian thought has developed. Our approach is interdisciplinary: instructors include historians, philosophers of religion and systematic theologians. Your work will be enriched by the School’s guest lectures and regular research seminars in theology and ethics, and the history of Christianity.

Programme structure
This programme is taught over one year full-time (or two years part-time), mainly in small classroom/seminar groups. You will receive research methods training, offering a practical approach to postgraduate-level critical investigation and writing skills, and individual supervision for your 15,000-word dissertation.

COMPULSORY COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:

- Creeds, Councils and Controversies I: Patristic and Medieval
- Creeds, Councils and Controversies II: Reformation and Modern
- and two courses in research methods.

OPTION COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:

- You will choose three options. At least one must be a theology in history course, such as: Byzantine Theology; Calvinist Theology and Pietist Church; State and Civil Society: From Dhimme to Dialogue in Muslim-Christian Relations; History of Christianity in Africa; Reformation in Sixteenth Century Britain and Ireland; Religion and the Enlightenment: the Birth of the Modern. With your Programme Director’s agreement, you may also choose options from other taught masters, language courses, or from advanced undergraduate courses.

Career opportunities
This programme is designed to provide a strong foundation for postgraduate research in the field or for employment in a range of areas requiring critical analysis and empathetic understanding.

Entry requirements
A UK 2:1 honours degree with a mark of at least 65 per cent or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), in theology/religious studies or a relevant field within humanities and social sciences.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Programme Director
Professor Susan Hardman Moore
Email s.hardmanmoore@ed.ac.uk

World Christianity

MTh or MSc 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

Programme description
This programme is designed to enable you to understand a wide range of Christian belief, culture and practice throughout the world, in historical, theological and sociological contexts. With more than 2.2 billion followers, and as one of the oldest religions, Christianity plays an important role in influencing a wide range of social, political and cultural issues. This programme offers some of the key themes and trends in Christianity in the non-western world, and is designed to provide expert insight, knowledge, skills and understanding, particularly in relation to Africa, Latin America and Asia. It is taught in a strongly interdisciplinary way, and employs historical, sociological, anthropological and theological perspectives. You will enjoy a unique framework to study, research and understand the complexity of Christian communities in the world and their wider significance for culture and society.

Programme structure
This programme is taught over one year full-time (or two years part-time), mainly in small classroom/seminar groups. You will receive research methods training, offering a practical approach to postgraduate-level critical investigation and writing skills, and individual supervision for your 15,000-word dissertation.

COMPULSORY COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:

- Selected Themes in the Study of World Christianity; with one further course from the options specific to this programme and two courses in research methods.

OPTION COURSES PREVIOUSLY OFFERED INCLUDE:

- You will choose three options. At least two must be world Christianity courses, such as: Christianity in Asia; Critical Debates in Christian Mission; History of Christianity in Africa; Theologies of World Christianity. With your Programme Director’s agreement, you may also choose options from other taught masters, language courses, or advanced undergraduate courses.

Career opportunities
This programme is designed to provide a strong foundation for postgraduate research in the field or for employment in a range of areas requiring critical analysis and empathetic understanding.

Entry requirements
A UK 2:1 honours degree with a mark of at least 65 per cent or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), in theology/religious studies or a relevant field within humanities and social sciences.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Programme Director
Dr Alex Chow
Email alexander.chow@ed.ac.uk
Research at the School of Divinity

The School of Divinity is home to a thriving research community. All of our academic staff are engaged in individual research and writing projects and many are also involved in collaborative projects with colleagues across the globe.

The Graduate School

The Graduate School is a diverse and stimulating research environment. You will join a community of around 150 research students, mostly PhDs but also MPhil and Masters by Research students. This community is drawn from around the world, and from a variety of religious and non-religious backgrounds.

Research supervision is provided by a team of more than 30 full-time academic staff – internationally respected scholars who cover a wide range of specialisms.

The Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2014 gave a high rating to the quality of research by our academic staff. The REF rated 78 per cent of our research in theology and religious studies either 4* world-leading or 3* internationally excellent on the overall quality profile.

Crucially for you as a research student, the School’s research environment was reviewed in the REF and was rated at 100 per cent either 4* world-leading or 3* internationally excellent.

We were also ranked fourth in the UK and first in Scotland for research power (Research Fortnight REF 2014).

Research centres

All academic staff are engaged in research, and the School runs weekly research seminars in all its disciplines, but in three areas our research centres provide a special focus for activity.

Centre for Theology and Public Issues

This Centre (CTPI) was founded in 1984 as the world’s first centre for research on public theology. It promotes theological reflection on public life and it brings together theologians, social scientists, church leaders, policy makers and the broader public. Recent focus areas include peace building through the media and the arts; religion and ethics in the making of war and peace; and the Millennium Development Goals. The Centre is an active member of the Global Network for Public Theology, an academic research partnership that promotes theological contributions on public issues.

Centre for the Study of World Christianity

This Centre (CSWC) advances high-quality scholarship in Christianity as a polycentric faith, whose adherents are now far more numerous in the southern hemisphere – the majority world – than in Europe or North America. The Centre supports scholars and graduate students by its seminars and conferences, and by research supervision, to make a distinctive and distinguished contribution to all areas of the study of world Christianity. Since 1992 the Centre has collaborated with Yale University Divinity School to run the annual Yale-Edinburgh conference on the History of the Missionary Movement and World Christianity.

Centre for Theological Studies

Research opportunities

We offer two types of research-based masters, as well as PhD programmes.

Masters by Research

If you have academic training in theology or religious studies (or another relevant subject), and would like to develop your interest with a focus on a particular area, the Masters by Research may interest you. This programme can be taken as a Master of Theology by Research or a Master of Science by Research – the difference is only in the name. You can study full-time (one year) or part-time (two years). You can either submit two 4,000-word essays and one 7,500 word essay, or two 7,500 word essays plus your dissertation. All students receive research training.

Master of Philosophy (MPhil)

Studying for an MPhil commits you to at least two years’ full-time study and to writing a thesis of up to 50,000 words. You will have regular 1:1 supervision and work with advice from two supervisors. During the first year you explore your chosen area of research and refine your research proposal. At around the nine-month mark, you will submit a draft chapter for discussion at a Review Board, together with a developed proposal for the whole thesis. On the basis of your progress to date, and the prospects for your research, the Review Board will make recommendations on the continuation of your studies into the second year.

Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)

Research for a PhD requires you to undertake at least three years’ full-time study and write a thesis of up to 100,000 words. You will have regular 1:1 supervision and work with advice from two supervisors. For admission to the PhD programme, you will need to show a proven ability to sustain independent research under supervision, normally in the form of a masters programme that includes a dissertation. From the beginning, the British pattern of PhD studies focuses on working towards the thesis – there is little or no coursework. Thus you will need to be well-prepared in any special skills you need for your research project, including languages, and competent in academic writing in English. During the first year you explore your chosen area of research and refine your research proposal. At around the nine-month mark, you will submit a draft chapter for discussion at a review board, together with a developed proposal for the whole thesis. On the basis of your progress to date, and the prospects for your research, the review board will make recommendations on the continuation of your studies into the second year. You will then have an annual review to discuss your progress.

PhD by Distance

Those who find it impossible to relocate within regular travelling distance of Edinburgh for full-time study may now apply to take our PhD programmes on a part-time, distance basis. This involves making two visits of two weeks each to Edinburgh in the first year and one visit of at least two weeks for the remaining five years of part-time study. Applicants for this route of study will be required to complete a separate Application Form for Distance Applicants in addition to your standard supporting documentation. For further information please email: divinity.pg@ed.ac.uk

Entry requirements

A UK 2:1 honour degree with a mark of at least 65 per cent, or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), in a relevant subject. You should also have academic training in the area of your research project. PhD applicants also require a specialist masters degree with a high level of attainment (at least 67 per cent in both coursework and dissertation), or their international equivalents. Please check the specific entry requirements for your programme online before applying.

Some PhD students travel abroad for library/archival research, fieldwork, or to learn a language.
Ethics & Practical Theology

Research profile
The research interests of academic staff and graduate students in ethics and practical theology encompass a range of theoretical and practical approaches including environmental ethics, peacebuilding and reconciliation, ethical theory, and pastoral and practical theology. You can find out more and identify a potential supervisor via the programme entry online. The School’s staff web pages each include details of their research interests and publications. In this research area, projects are often interdisciplinary; if you follow this path you may be jointly supervised with a subject specialist from another School at the University. You will also be part of a research seminar for staff and students to which visiting speakers are invited and to which postgraduate students present their work-in-progress. You may also be able to take taught courses (see pages 4-6 for examples) that are relevant to your interests and research.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact Professor Jolyon Mitchell
Email jolyon.mitchell@ed.ac.uk

Hebrew & Old Testament Studies

Research profile
Academics in this area offer research supervision in most areas of research related to the Hebrew Bible – pentateuchal and historical studies, poetry and prophecy, biblical theology and ethics, Hebrew language, Septuagint and targumic studies, and the Dead Sea Scrolls in their Hellenistic context. You can find out more and identify a potential supervisor via the programme entry online. You will be part of a research seminar for staff and students to which visiting speakers are invited and to which postgraduate students present their work-in-progress. You may also be able to take taught courses that are relevant to your interests and research.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact Professor Timothy Lim
Email limt@ed.ac.uk

History of Christianity

Research profile
We offer excellent specialist supervision and library resources for research on the history of Christianity. Areas of particular strength include: patroistics and early Christian history; the Reformation in Britain and on the continent; puritanism; the history of British and European Christianity from the 18th century; and the history of Christian missions, especially in Africa, from the 18th century. You can find out more and identify a potential supervisor via the programme entry online. You will be part of a research seminar for staff and students to which visiting speakers are invited and to which postgraduate students present their work-in-progress. You may also be able to take taught courses that are relevant to your interests and research.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact Professor S J Brown
Email s.j.brown@ed.ac.uk
Islamic Studies & Muslim-Christian Relations

PHD 3 yrs FT (6 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)
MPhil 2 yrs FT (4 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)
MSc by Research 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

We offer interdisciplinary study of Islamic thought and practice, and of historical, theological, ethical and political encounters between Christianity and Islam. Staff research focuses on: Islamic theology (kalam), law (shari’a and fiqh), and philosophy; Qur’an, Hadith, and Tafsir; Muslim views of Christianity and Judaism; Christian theological engagements with Islam; constructive theology and ethics from a Christian or Muslim perspective; Arab Christianity, classic and contemporary; political Islam; political theology; comparative theology; migration, religion and politics. You can find out more and identify a potential supervisor via the programme entry online. You can attend research seminars for staff and students to which visiting speakers are invited and to which postgraduate students present their work-in-progress. You may also be able to take taught courses relevant to your interests and research.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact Dr Joshua Ralston
Email joshua.ralston@ed.ac.uk

PHD 3 yrs FT (6 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)
MPhil 2 yrs FT (4 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)
MSc by Research 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

Research profile
Our specialists focus on: the gospels; Paul; the apocalypse; the apocryphal gospels and early second-century texts and developments; textual criticism; New Testament ethics; Qumran; the historical, religious and literary environment of the New Testament; and New Testament Christology. You can undertake research in exegesis, historical-critical issues, textual and literary criticism, the relation between Christianity and its religious and historical setting, the history of interpretation, and hermeneutical questions. You can find out more and identify a potential supervisor via the programme entry online. You will be part of a research seminar for staff and students to which visiting speakers are invited to and which postgraduate students present their work-in-progress. You may also be able to take taught courses relevant to your interests and research.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact Dr Matthew Novenson
Email matthew.novenson@ed.ac.uk

Religious Studies

PHD 3 yrs FT (6 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)
MPhil 2 yrs FT (4 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)
MSc by Research 1 yr FT (2 yrs PT available for UK/EU students)

Research profile
Religious studies or the study of religion/s is a vibrant research cluster based in theoretically-informed and comparative studies of religion. You can specialise in a variety of areas including contemporary and historical topics and fields such as Asian studies, history of religions/new religions, and Jewish studies. You will be encouraged to frame your research using theoretical and methodological approaches from the classic to the cutting-edge. You will be able to draw on methodological expertise which includes biographical analysis, discourse analysis, ethnography, historical and textual studies, memory studies and narrative studies. The thematic interests of academic staff include ethnicity, gender, indigeneity, nationalism, textualism and the transnational. You can find out more and identify a potential supervisor via the programme entry online. The School’s staff web pages each include details of their research interests and publications. You will be part of a research seminar for staff and students to which visiting speakers are invited and to which postgraduate students present their work-in-progress. You may also be able to take taught courses that are relevant to your interests and research.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact Dr Steven Sutcliffe
Email s.sutcliffe@ed.ac.uk
Science & Religion

Research profile
This research area invites you to bring together the two great truth-seeking disciplines and understand the ways in which science and religion challenge and inform each other. This interdisciplinary venture is more than the sum of its parts. You will make use of the methods of historical study, philosophy, theology, and literary studies to assess state-of-the-art scientific research alongside well-established areas of debate. Research supervision is offered by academic staff with interests in physics, cosmology and faith; reduction and emergence; consciousness and the soul; evolutionary biology, human uniqueness, and the image of God; the laws of nature; and the idea of ultimate reality; science and the doctrine of creation; miracles and science; the Bible and science; science and religion in literature and the arts; ecology, ethics and theology. You can find out more and identify a potential supervisor via the programme entry online. The School’s staff web pages each include details of their research interests and publications. You will be part of a research seminar for staff and students to which visiting speakers are invited and to which postgraduate students present their work-in-progress. You may also be able to take taught courses relevant to your interests and research.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact Dr Mark Harris
Email mark.harris@ed.ac.uk

Systematic Theology

Research profile
You will join academic staff and graduate students who represent a variety of nationalities and theological perspectives. This intellectual diversity is strongly encouraged. Recent PhD projects have included research into Augustine, medieval theology, the history of reformed theology, Dutch Neo-Calvinism, Edwards, Schleiermacher, Barth, Wittgenstein, Torrance, Levinas, Balthasar, Pannenberg, Adams, contextual theology, theology of religions, providence, theological anthropology, ecclesiology, pneumatology, eschatology and puritan theology. The interests of academic staff range across philosophical, historical and systematic theology. You can find out more and identify a potential supervisor via the programme entry online. The School’s staff web pages each include details of their research interests and publications. You will be part of a research seminar for staff and students to which visiting speakers are invited and to which postgraduate students present their work-in-progress. You may also be able to take taught courses relevant to your interests and research.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact Professor David Ferguson
Email david.fergusson@ed.ac.uk

World Christianity

Research profile
You will work with the academic specialists who lead our Centre for the Study of World Christianity, which focuses on Christianity in and from all parts of the majority world and also on the growing presence of African and Asian churches in the northern hemisphere. You will join a vibrant research community whose focus is the regular postgraduate seminar in World Christianity. The research interests of our academic staff include: Asian and African Christian theologies; Chinese Christianity; the history of missionary movements, from both the north and the global south; Pentecostalism; conversion; inculturation; gender; migration; and inter-faith encounters, especially Christian-Muslim relations. The University of Edinburgh has a global reputation as a pioneer of the academic study of Christianity in the non-Western world. By choosing Edinburgh as the location of your studies, you will be joining one of the world’s leading centres of research in this field.

English language requirements
See page 20.

Fees and funding
For fees see page 20 and for funding information see page 22.

Contact for African topics Dr Emma Wild-Wood
Email emma.wildwood@ed.ac.uk

Contact for Asian topics Dr Alex Chow
Email alexander.chow@ed.ac.uk

See also...
You may also be interested in research areas offered by other Schools, such as the Schools of History, Classics & Archaeology; Literatures, Languages & Cultures; Philosophy, Psychology & Language Sciences; and Social & Political Science.

www.ed.ac.uk/studying/prospectus-request
The School of Divinity

Theology has been taught at Edinburgh since the foundation of the University in 1583. Now housed in the historic New College building near Edinburgh Castle, the School of Divinity occupies a commanding city-centre site on the Mound, overlooking Princes Street Gardens, the Scottish National Gallery and the Royal Scottish Academy.

The ethos of the Graduate School is to promote excellence in postgraduate study, within a stimulating and supportive environment. We value equality and diversity in the School community, and an academic culture that is both critical and constructive.

Leading Lights

The School is led by some of the UK’s most respected and high-profile scholars of theology and religion, including:

- Helen Bond, Professor in Christian Origins and Head of School, who is a distinguished historian of the New Testament period. She has shared her scholarship more widely by contributing to BBC Radio 4, and on television to the BBC and Channel 4.
- David Ferguson, Professor of Divinity, who has delivered the Gifford Lectures (Glasgow), the Warfield Lectures (Princeton) and the Birks Lectures (Montreal). He was elected a Fellow of the British Academy in 2013.
- Hannah Hollotschneider, Senior Lecturer in Jewish Studies, who leads a major AHRC-funded project on the immigration of Jews to Scotland from 1880 to 1950, Jewish Lives, Scottish Spaces.
- S. Jay Brown, Professor of Ecclesiastical History, is one of the most distinguished historians of Christianity working in the UK. A past president of the Ecclesiastical History Society, he has published extensively on social Christianity in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, the Oxford Movement, and the place of Christianity in the British Empire.
- Mona Siddiqi, Professor of Islamic and Interreligious Studies and the University’s Assistant Principal for Religion and Society, who is a well-known contributor to broadcast and print media. From 2016 to 2018 Professor Siddiqi chaired an independent review for the Home Office of Shari’a councils in the UK.
- Jolyon Mitchell, Professor of Communications, Arts and Religion, who worked as a producer and journalist for BBC World Service and BBC Radio 4 before he was appointed to the University. His interests focus on religion, violence and peacebuilding with particular reference to the arts. He is Director of the Centre for Theology and Public Issues, and President of TRS-UK, the national association for theology and religious studies.

Facilities and resources

The School of Divinity has its own unique library, dining and socialising areas, and a strong sense of community between students and staff, as well as being part of a large, world-class university.

The strengths of the Library collections contribute greatly to the teaching and research of members of the School as well as students elsewhere in the University. These collections are complemented by the many resources available in the University and beyond. The total holdings in all the University libraries exceed 2.25 million volumes. In addition, the National Library of Scotland holds more than five million volumes. The New College Library boasts a magnificent reading hall, originally built as the sanctuary of the Free High Kirk.

The strengths of the Library collections contribute greatly to the teaching and research of members of the School as well as students elsewhere in the University. These collections are complemented by the many resources available in the University and beyond. The total holdings in all the University libraries exceed 2.25 million volumes. In addition, the National Library of Scotland holds more than five million volumes. The New College Library boasts a magnificent reading hall, originally built as the sanctuary of the Free High Kirk.

The School provides extensive and well-equipped computing facilities for coursework and research at all levels, including dissertations. All students have access to computers, scanners and printers, across four labs.

Postgraduate students are provided with dedicated study spaces in the Ramsay Lane Wing and Semples Close Wing of New College. Both are accessible 24 hours a day via a secure swipe-card entry system.

New College’s gothic Rainy Hall provides a marvellous setting for dining and a welcoming social space for lively conversation and informal debate. The New College complex is also home to the General Assembly Hall of the Church of Scotland.

David Nussbaum, School of Divinity alumni, Chief Executive of The Elders Foundation

“My experience at New College was part of what trained me to think. My dissertation was on ‘Augustine, Scripture and Power’, and I’ve been thinking about how people use and think about power ever since.’

Collections of the University

The University of Edinburgh has one of the world’s great collections, which has been growing ever since its foundation in 1583. Our collections include rare books, archives and manuscripts, art, historical musical instruments and a wide range of museum objects from geological specimens to anatomical models. If laid out end to end, we would have almost 60 kilometres of shelving and storage space devoted to our heritage material, from 1st century Greek papyrus fragments to new works of sculpture. This is curated by specialist staff across 45 sites and used for our teaching and research and by the wider public community.

The Centre for Research Collections in the Main Library is the hub for all our collections, where specialist curators make them available for study, research and pleasure. Postgraduate students are welcome to study original objects and have made many important research discoveries while working on the archives. You will find an incredible range of material in our collections that is available nowhere else in the world.
Employability and graduate attributes

Here at Edinburgh we believe in offering you the best possible support for your studies and in preparation for your future. Our local learning support along with the central Careers Service play a large part in this.

A postgraduate qualification from the School of Divinity prepares you for a vast array of employment, depending on your subject area.

You will develop transferable skills, which could be applied in a wide range of careers such as advocacy, community development, counselling, crisis services, public relations, journalism, social work and teaching.

Institute for Academic Development

All postgraduate students can benefit from our Institute for Academic Development (IAD), which provides information, events and courses to develop the skills you will need throughout your studies and in the future. IAD events also offer the perfect opportunity to meet and network with other postgraduates from across the University.

Further information is available online: www.ed.ac.uk/iad/postgraduates

For taught postgraduates, IAD provides a popular study-related and transferable skills support programme. It is designed to help you settle into postgraduate life, succeed during your studies and move confidently to the next stage of your career. We offer on-campus and online workshops and one-to-one study skills consultations, plus online advice and learning materials. Workshops cover topics such as writing skills, reference management tools, statistics, preparing for conferences, delivering presentations, time and project management, and personal development. IAD also offers online resources and planning tools to help get your research started, as well as support for tutoring and demonstrating, and public engagement and communication.

Careers Service

Our Careers Service plays an essential part in your wider student experience at the University, offering a range of tailored careers and personal development guidance and support. We support you to recognise the wealth of possibilities ahead, while at university and after graduation, helping you explore new avenues, tap into your talents and build your employability with confidence and enthusiasm.

We provide high-quality, tailored support to all students. From exploring career options to making decisions, from CV writing to interview practice, from Employed internships to graduate posts and from careers fairs to postgraduate alumni events, we will help you prepare for the future.

We sustain and continually develop links with employers from all industries and employment sectors, from the world’s top recruiters to small enterprises based here in Edinburgh. Our employer team provides a programme of opportunities for you to meet employers on campus and virtually, and advertises a wide range of part-time and graduate jobs.

More information: www.ed.ac.uk/careers/postgrad

Platform One

Platform One is an online meeting place where members of the University community, past and present, can gather. It aims to provide a supportive environment where students, alumni, staff and volunteers can share knowledge and experiences. Together, we form a single community that meets on Platform One. Join us and find out more about the people and possibilities.

More information: www.ed.ac.uk/platform-one

Backing bright ideas

Edinburgh Innovations, the University’s commercialisation service, offers free support to student entrepreneurs including one-to-one business advice and a range of workshops, bootcamps, competitions and networking events. Successful recent clients include David Hunter, inventor of the performance-tracking golf watch Shot Scope; Orfeas Boteas, creator of the Dehumaniser sound effects software used by Hollywood movies and blockbuster video games; and Enactus Edinburgh, a team of student social entrepreneurs who represented the UK in the Enactus World Cup with their local and international projects.
Applications and fees

We have an online application process for all postgraduate programmes. It’s a straightforward system with full instructions, including details of any supporting documentation you need to submit.

Full guidance on our application system is available at: www.ed.ac.uk/postgraduate/applying

General requirements
A UK 2:1 honours degree with a mark of at least 65 per cent, or its international equivalent (www.ed.ac.uk/international/graduate-entry), in theology/religious studies or a relevant field within humanities and social sciences. You will also need to meet the University’s language requirements (see below). PhD applicants also require a specialist masters degree with a high level of attainment (at least 67 per cent in both coursework and dissertation), or their international equivalents. Please check the specific entry requirements for your programme online before applying.

References
For taught programmes, the normal requirement is one reference, although an additional reference may be requested. For research programmes, two references are required. For general guidance on references, visit: www.ed.ac.uk/postgraduate/references

Deadlines
Some taught programmes have application deadlines. Please check online for details. For other taught programmes, you are encouraged to apply no later than one month prior to entry to allow time to process your application. Earlier application is recommended, particularly where there is a high demand for places or when a visa will be required. To submit a late application, please contact us for guidance. Research programme applications are considered the whole year round, but the deadline for consideration for our financial awards is the end of January.

English language requirements
You must demonstrate a level of English language competency at a level that will enable you to succeed in your studies, regardless of your nationality or country of residence. We accept the following English language qualifications at the grades specified:

- IELTS Academic: total 7.0 (at least 6.0 in each module).
- TOEFL-iBT: total 100 (at least 20 in each module).
- PTE Academic: total 67 (at least 56 in each of the Communicative Skills sections).
- CAE and CPE: total 185 (at least 169 in each module).
- Trinity ISE: ISE III (with a pass in all four components).

Please note: English language requirements can be affected by government policy so please ensure you visit our degree finder to check the latest requirements for your programme: www.ed.ac.uk/postgraduate/degrees

Your English language qualification must be no more than three and a half years old at the beginning of your programme, unless you are using IELTS, TOEFL, PTE Academic or Trinity ISE, in which case must be no more than two years old.

We also accept recent degree-level study that was taught and assessed in English in a majority English-speaking country (as defined by UK Visas & Immigration), or at a university in a non-majority English-speaking country which has specifically been approved by the University of Edinburgh’s Admissions Qualifications Group. A list of approved universities is published on our website. If you are not a national of a majority English speaking country, then your degree must be no more than three and a half years old at the beginning of your programme of study.

We do not require you to take an English language test before you apply.

Abbreviations: IELTS – International English Language Testing System; TOEFL-iBT – Test of English as a Foreign Language Internet-Based Test; PTE – Pearson Test of English; CPE – Certificate of Proficiency in English; CAE – Certificate in Advanced English; Trinity ISE – Integrated Skills in English.

Tuition fees
The following table provides an overview of indicative fee levels for programmes commencing in 2020.

Please note:
- International students starting full-time taught programmes of study lasting more than one year will be charged a fixed annual fee.
- All other students on full-time and part-time programmes of study lasting more than one year should be aware that annual tuition fees are subject to revision and are typically increased by approximately five per cent per annum. This annual increase should be taken into account when you are applying for a programme.
- In addition to tuition fees, your programme may be subject to an application fee and additional costs/programme costs may apply. Please check the latest programme information online.

Asylum seeker tuition fee status and scholarship
Information for applicants seeking asylum from within the United Kingdom, who wish to commence a programme of study at the University in 2020, is available online. This includes our tuition fee rates and scholarship opportunities: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/asylum

Tuition fees for EU students
EU students enrolling in the 2020/21 academic year will be admitted as Scottish/EU fee status students. Taught masters students will be eligible for the same tuition support as Scottish domiciled students from the Student Awards Agency Scotland (SAAS).

For UK/EU students

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Programme Type</th>
<th>Annual fee</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Taught programme 1-year FT</td>
<td>£11,300</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Taught programme 2-years PT</td>
<td>£6,650</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MSc/MTh by Research 1-year FT</td>
<td>£8,750</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MSc/MTh by Research 2-years FT</td>
<td>£4,375</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MPhil 2-years FT/PhD 3-years FT</td>
<td>£4,327</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MPhil 4-years FT/PhD 6-years FT</td>
<td>£2,164</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For international students

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Programme Type</th>
<th>Annual fee</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Taught programme 1-year FT</td>
<td>£22,850</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MSc/MTh by Research 1-year FT</td>
<td>£22,850</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MSc/MTh by Research 2-years FT</td>
<td>£22,850</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MPhil 2-years FT/PhD 3-years FT</td>
<td>£20,100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MPhil 4-years FT/PhD 6-years FT</td>
<td>£20,100</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* Figure shown is the 2019/20 fee level
All other fees quoted are indicative of 2020/21 fee levels. Because these figures are indicative, it is important you check online before you apply and check the up-to-date fee level that will apply to your specific programme: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/tuition-fees/postgraduate
Funding

A large number of scholarships, loans and other funding schemes are available for your postgraduate studies. It is only possible to show a small selection in print. To see the full range, please visit: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/postgraduate

Awards are offered by the School of Divinity, the College of Arts, Humanities & Social Sciences, the University of Edinburgh, the Scottish, UK and international governments and many funding bodies.

Here we list a selection of potential sources of financial support for postgraduate students applying to the School of Divinity. This list was correct at the time of printing but please check the full and up to date range online (see above) or in the School of Divinity’s funding guide: http://tiny.cc/divinityfunding

University of Edinburgh Alumni Scholarships

We offer a 10 per cent scholarship towards postgraduate fees to all alumni who graduated from the University as an undergraduate, and to all students who spent at least one semester studying at the University on a visiting programme: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/alumni-scholarships

Scholarships at the University of Edinburgh

- Church of Scotland Scholarship (China) •
- Edinburgh Global Research Scholarships •
- Edinburgh PhD Scholarships •
- School of Divinity Postgraduate Research Scholarships •
- The Kirby Laing International Scholarships •

A number of scholarships are available for postgraduate research applicants: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/scholarships

- Principal’s Career Development PhD Scholarships • These provide a valuable opportunity for PhD students to undertake training and skills development and offer opportunities in areas such as teaching, public engagement, entrepreneurship, data science, and research. Each award covers the UK tuition fee and a stipend: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/development

- School of Divinity Postgraduate Masters Scholarships •

A number of scholarships are available for postgraduate masters applicants: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/divinity-masters

Research council awards

Research councils offer awards to masters and PhD students in most of the Schools within the University of Edinburgh. All studentship applications from the research councils must be made through the University, through your School or College office. Awards can be made for both taught and research programmes.

Normally only those UK/EU students who have been resident in the UK for the preceding three years are eligible for a full award. For some awards, candidates who are EU nationals and are resident in the UK may be eligible for a fee only award. The UK Government has confirmed that EU postgraduate research students commencing their studies in 2020/21 will retain their fee status and eligibility for research council support for the duration of their programme: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/research-councils

- The Canada Student Loans Program • • • The University is eligible to certify Canadian student loan applications: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/canadian-loans

- Erasmus+ • The Erasmus+ Master Loan helps masters students with their living and tuition costs when studying in an Erasmus+ country other than where they live or where they took their first degree. For more information: erasmusplus.org/master-loan

- Postgraduate Doctoral Loans England • Student Finance England offers student loans for postgraduate study, payable to eligible students and divided equally across each year of the doctoral programme: www.studentfinance.org.uk/postgraduate-doctoral-loan

- Postgraduate Loans (PGL) Northern Ireland • Student Finance Northern Ireland offers postgraduate loans for taught and research masters programmes, payable to eligible students: www.studentfinanceni.co.uk/postgraduate-loans

- Northern Ireland •

Loans available for study at the University of Edinburgh

The University of Edinburgh is a participating institution in the following loans programmes, meaning we certify your student status and can help with the application process.

- The Canada Student Loans Program • • • The University is eligible to certify Canadian student loan applications: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/canadian-loans

- Erasmus+ •

- Postgraduate Doctoral Loans England •

- Postgraduate Loans (PGL) Northern Ireland • Student Finance Northern Ireland offers postgraduate loans for taught and research masters programmes, payable to eligible students: www.studentfinanceni.co.uk/postgraduate-loans

- Northern Ireland •

Key

• Taught masters programmes
• Masters by Research programmes
• Research programmes

Student Finance England offers eligible students tuition fee loans for taught and research programmes at diploma and masters level, which will be paid directly to the University: www.studentfinance.org.uk

- Student Finance Wales • Student Finance Wales offers eligible students postgraduate finance for taught and research masters programmes: www.studentfinancewales.co.uk

- US Student Loans • • The University is eligible to certify loan applications for US student loans. Full details on eligibility and how to apply can be found online: www.ed.ac.uk/student-funding/us-loans

- Northern Ireland •

- Postgraduate Doctoral Loans England •

- Other sources of funding

The following are examples of the many scholarships and support schemes available to students from particular countries who meet certain eligibility criteria.

- Chevening Scholarships • A number of partial and full funding scholarships are available to one-year masters students: www.chevening.org

- Commonwealth Scholarships • • • Scholarships available to students who are resident in any Commonwealth country, other than the UK: www.dfid.gov.uk/cscuk

- Marshall Scholarships (USA) • • • Scholarships available to outstanding US students wishing to study at any UK university for at least two years: www.marshallscholarship.org

“I’ve enjoyed the keen sense of community, close attention from my supervisors, the view from the windows in the Martin Hall, and the brightness of lunchtime chats. I’ve valued being able to learn, tutor and do fieldwork relatively unconstrained by anxieties about the exchange rate.”

Krittika Bhattacharjee,
PhD Religious Studies, Principal’s Career Development Scholar and Edinburgh Global Research Scholarship
The School of Divinity’s home, New College, has an unrivalled location at the top of the Mound, overlooking one of the most scenic cities in the world. We are a few minutes’ walk from the University’s Central Area, and close to all city-centre amenities.

Get in touch

Contact us
For more information about postgraduate studies at the School of Divinity please get in touch.
School of Divinity
New College
Mound Place
Edinburgh, UK
EH1 2LX
Tel +44 (0)131 650 8952
Email divinity.pg@ed.ac.uk
www.ed.ac.uk/divinity

To make contact with a potential PhD supervisor please see our staff profiles and contact information at: www.ed.ac.uk/divinity/our-people

Visit us
Any potential applicant who would like to visit the School of Divinity is warmly welcomed. To arrange a visit, contact the School’s Postgraduate Office: divinity.pg@ed.ac.uk

The University’s Postgraduate Open Day is your opportunity to come and meet current staff and students. Our next campus-based Open Day takes place on 13 November 2019. For more information, visit: www.ed.ac.uk/postgraduate-open-day

Many of our applicants are from overseas, which can make visiting difficult, but our academic staff welcome contact and often hold video conversations with potential students.

Our visits to you
If you are unable to visit the University, we attend events throughout the year so you can meet and speak to us in person.

UK and Europe: www.ed.ac.uk/postgraduate/events

International: www.ed.ac.uk/international/our-visits-overseas

Chat online
We offer all postgraduate students online information sessions. To find out more and see when the next session will be: www.ed.ac.uk/postgraduate/online-events

For international students, Edinburgh Global also offers regular online chats. To find out more: www.ed.ac.uk/international/chat-to-us-online

Detailed maps can be found at: www.ed.ac.uk/maps

Campus map

We are here!
The School of Divinity (New College)
On 23 June 2016 the UK electorate voted in a national referendum to leave the European Union. EU postgraduate taught students enrolling in the 2020/21 academic year will be admitted as Scottish/EU fee status students and eligible for the same tuition support as Scottish domiciled students for the duration of their studies. This will still be the case in the event of a Brexit no deal scenario. For the latest information for students and applicants from the EU, please visit our website: www.ed.ac.uk/news/eu

The University’s standard terms and conditions will form an essential part of any contract between the University of Edinburgh and any student offered a place here. Our full terms and conditions are available online: www.ed.ac.uk/student-recruitment/terms-conditions

© The University of Edinburgh 2019. No part of this publication may be reproduced without written permission of the University. The University of Edinburgh is a charitable body registered in Scotland, with registration number SC005336.