Scottish Literature 1
Course Handbook

2019-2020

For students taking the following:
ENLI08016 Scottish Literature 1 – the full year course (40 credits)
ENLI08017 Scottish Literature 1A (VS1) – Semester 1 only Visiting Students (20 credits)
ENLI08018 Scottish Literature 1 (VS2) – Semester 2 only Visiting Students (20 credits)
Contents:

Introduction 3

Key Contacts 4

Lectures 4

Tutorials 5

Books and Texts for the Course 6

Structure of Assessment 13

Coursework 14

Degree Examination 19

Plagiarism 20

Feedback 21

LitPALS 23

Visiting Students 24

Careers Service Support 25

Links to Important Information 27
INTRODUCTION

The principal objectives of Scottish Literature 1 are twofold: to enable students to become fluent and confident readers of a variety of literary forms and to develop greater self-awareness in their understanding of the reading process and of critical practice.

The course is divided into two parts, ‘Literature: Forms and Practices’ in semester one and ‘Writing and National Identity’ in semester two. In the first semester only, the Thursday and Friday lectures are shared by both Scottish Literature and English Literature students.

Semester 1. ‘Literature: Forms and Practices’ introduces students to some of the stylistic and conceptual aspects which are central to the study of literature. The semester is divided into three blocks, respectively focussing on poetry, drama, and prose fiction. By concentrating on issues of genre categorisation, form and theoretical context, students are helped to develop close reading skills and an awareness of the environments in which texts are produced.

The shared Thursday and Friday lectures introduce students to a wide variety of literary texts by Scottish, Irish, and English writers, whilst the Monday lectures explore issues of literary form and practice by drawing on examples of Scottish poetry, prose, and drama.

Semester 2. ‘Writing and National Identity’ explores the relationship between national identity and Scottish literature. Students will be introduced to Scottish literature drawn from four significant historical periods that bring into sharp relief the relationship between writing and identity:

- the Middle Ages and the Reformation;
- the eighteenth-century and the Romantic period;
- the late nineteenth-century and Edwardian period;
- and the twentieth-century, focussing on two particular historical and cultural moments --- the Modernist Renaissance and the period 1979-99.

Students will be invited to think about the specificity and particularity of literary production in Scotland, and the different ways in which it has expressed, questioned, and dissented from the idea of a literary and cultural identity which is distinctively Scottish. By placing Scottish literature within a broad international context, the course will trace the outward- and inward-looking impulses that have shaped its development. The module is designed to foster an understanding in students of the historical and cultural variety of Scottish writing, and of the richly different and contradictory ways in which issues of ‘identity’ --- artistic, political, cultural, linguistic --- have been imagined.

Both sections of the course will be assessed through written work in essays and exams, and contributions to tutorials.
KEY CONTACTS

The Course Organiser is Dr David Salter. Dr Salter’s office is Room 2.02 on the second floor of 50 George Square. His email address is David.Salter@ed.ac.uk. The time of his office hour is advertised on our website. See link from: https://www.ed.ac.uk/literatures-languages-cultures/english-literature/staff

The Undergraduate Director for Semester 1 is Dr Jonathan Wild, whose office is Room 2.11 on the second floor of 50 George Square. His email address is JWild@ed.ac.uk. The time of his office hour is advertised on our website. See link from: https://www.ed.ac.uk/literatures-languages-cultures/english-literature/staff

The Undergraduate Director for Semester 2 is Dr Dermot Cavanagh, whose office is room 2.18, 50 George Square. His email address is Dermot.Cavanagh@ed.ac.uk, and his office hour is advertised on our website. See link from: https://www.ed.ac.uk/literatures-languages-cultures/english-literature/staff

The Head of Department is Dr Alex Thomson, Room 2.43, on the second floor of 50 George Square. Appointments with the Head of Department can be made through the Undergraduate Office, on the first floor of 50 George Square.

The Course Administrator is Helene Thomsen, who is based in Room 1.08 of the LLC Undergraduate Teaching Office, First Floor, 50 George Square. Her email is Helene.Thomsen@ed.ac.uk

LECTURES

TIMES AND PLACES

All classes will begin promptly: you should be seated and ready to begin by the scheduled start time. Late arrival causes disruption for the lecturer and your fellow students, and will make it harder for you to get the most out of your attendance.

Please refer to your personal timetable on MyEd for lecture times and venues.

LECTURE SCHEDULE

For details of lectures, see the lecture schedule for Scottish Literature 1 on the department website: http://www.ed.ac.uk/schools-departments/literatures-languages-cultures/english-literature/undergraduate/current/pre-honours/scottish-literature-1

LECTURE HANDOUTS

If lecturers intend to use visual aids in their lecture, these will be posted to the Scottish Literature 1 LEARN folders 24 hours prior to the lecture. LEARN is the University’s Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). You can access LEARN from your MyEd page.
TUTORIALS

ALLOCATION TO A TUTORIAL GROUP

In addition to lectures, students will also have weekly Scottish Literature 1 tutorials in small groups, at times to be arranged. A personalised timetable will be available to you via the MyEd portal within the tab ‘My Services’. When you have signed up for a course you will be able to view your own timetable of core lecture hours. Tutorial groups can also be viewed on your timetable. Tutorial hours will be allocated and the group to which you have been assigned will appear on your personal timetable by the end of the first week of teaching. This can only happen after you have been enrolled onto the course.

Students taking the Joint degree in English and Scottish Literature will also take an extra ‘part course’, ‘Literature at the Borders’, in semester one only. You will attend an additional weekly tutorial, which will show up on your personal timetable in Week 1 of the teaching semester. You will be given a reading list and syllabus in your first tutorial.

To allow time for all students to be placed in an appropriate group, tutorials in the first semester begin in Week Two (week beginning Monday 23rd September, 2019).

NB. In the second semester, tutorials commence in Week One (week beginning Monday 13th January, 2020).

Your tutor will give you your reading list in your first tutorial.

SEEKING FURTHER ADVICE ABOUT YOUR STUDY

If you wish to ask for further advice about your coursework you should ask your course tutor in the first instance. If your query refers to a specific lecture, you should contact the faculty member who gave the lecture during his/her office hour. Full details about office hours and office locations can be found on the Department website via this web page: https://www.ed.ac.uk/literatures-languages-cultures/english-literature/staff

TUTORIAL ATTENDANCE

Students are required to be in attendance during term time, attend all classes as specified in their course programme, and to undertake all preparation and reading required for them. Failure to attend is a serious matter.

Advance notice of absence should be given to the course tutor, and your Personal Tutor. Health certificates are required for absence due to sickness in excess of one week, and should be submitted to your Personal Tutor.

Attendance at tutorials is recorded by the course tutor at the start or end of class, so it is important to attend punctually. Failure to attend tutorials without legitimate reason will inevitably limit your ability to participate in the class, and your ‘Tutorial Assessment’ grades for each semester of the course are likely to reflect this lack of participation.
TUTORIAL ASSESSMENT

Class Participation Assessments (CPA) are graded in accordance with the criteria detailed below which refer to your preparation for the seminar/tutorial, contribution to discussion and engagement with other members of the seminar/tutorial (including tutors).

Tutors will maintain a record of your attainment; if your level of participation falls below satisfactory by mid-semester, your Personal Tutor will contact you to arrange a meeting to discuss why this is the case.

Full attendance is expected in all normal circumstances. Persistent absence without reasonable explanation may result in a fail mark for this component of the course, which counts for 10% of the overall grade for the course.

In line with the University’s Policy of an inclusive curriculum, staff and students are reminded that ‘contributions to discussion’ need not only be verbal. Where appropriate, your mark will take into account relevant information included in your Reasonable Adjustments Schedule.

For further information on how your Tutorial Assessment Mark is arrived at, please see grade descriptors at: https://www.ed.ac.uk/literatures-languages-cultures/english-literature/undergraduate/current/academic-matters/class-participation-assessment

BOOKS AND TEXTS FOR THE COURSE

Also for Visiting Students taking Scottish Literature 1A (VS1) [course code: ENLI08017] - Semester 1 only and for Visiting Students taking Scottish Literature 1 (VS2) [course code: ENLI08018] - Semester 2 only

PRIMARY TEXTS

Each student should own a copy of the following, which can be bought from Blackwells Booksellers, 53 South Bridge, Edinburgh. You will find that some particularly cheap editions of standard texts do not contain much by way of introductory or explanatory material, which you may find a hindrance to your studies. Fuller, more student-friendly editions may be only a couple of pounds more expensive.

We would strongly recommend our very own Edinburgh Introduction to Studying English Literature, ed. Dermot Cavanagh (et al.) published in 2014, a book that contains essays by many members of the department, and which is specifically orientated to first-year university study.

Most of the lectures for English Literature in semester one focus on works taken from the Norton Anthology of English Literature (NEL). Please use either the 10th edition or a second-hand copy of the 9th edition (available from Blackwells and other local bookshops). For full details see the lecture schedule. For Scottish Literature and other English Literature texts not in NEL see below. Students not intending to take Scottish or English Literature in their second or Honours years may prefer to borrow or consult NEL in the Library, where there are multiple copies in the Reserve section.

Texts below marked with an asterisk  will be available as etexts via LEARN, the course’s virtual learning environment, accessible from MyEd.

for SEMESTER 1:

For the Monday lectures  (Scottish Literature 1 only):

Douglas Dunn ed., Twentieth Century Scottish Poetry (Faber, 2006)
James Hogg, ‘The Barber of Duncow’ *
R.L. Stevenson, ‘The Bottle Imp’ *
John McGrath, The Cheviot, the Stag and the Black, Black Oil (Methuen Modern Plays, 1981)
Liz Lochhead, Mary Queen of Scots Got Her Head Chopped Off (Nick Hern Books, 2009)
Ena Lamont, Men Should Weep *

Texts for lectures shared with English Literature 1:

The Norton Anthology of English Literature (Norton paperback) Referred to as NEL.
Students should obtain the full set. For ease of use, we recommend the six-volume set (volumes A-F, available in two bundles of three), but students should feel free to buy the two-volume version if they prefer.

‘Preface to the Norton Anthology’ in NEL Volume A
John Milton, Paradise Lost –Books 1 to 4 and Book 9, in NEL
Alexander Pope, ‘The Rape of the Lock’, in NEL
Robert Burns, ‘Address to the Deil’: Etext: available on the web http://www.robertburns.org/works/83.shtml
George Bernard Shaw, Mrs Warren’s Profession in NEL
Samuel Beckett, Waiting for Godot in NEL
Caryl Churchill, Cloud Nine (Nick Hern)
Oscar Wilde, The Importance of Being Earnest in NEL
Tony Kushner, Angels in America: Parts One & Two (Nick Hern)
James Hogg, Confessions of a Justified Sinner (Oxford University Press)
Jean Rhys in NEL
Barthes, ‘The Death of the Author’, in NATC
Muriel Spark, The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie (Penguin)
for SEMESTER 2:

Weeks 1-3:
The Declaration of Arbroath
David Lyndsay, The Dreme
David Lyndsay, A Satire of the Three Estates
Robert Henryson, The Testament of Cresseid
Robert Henryson, ‘The Lion and the Mouse’
William Dunbar, Lyrics
William Dunbar, ‘The Tretis of the Twa Marit Wemen and the Wedo’

Weeks 4-5:
The Course Anthology - Vernacular Revival and Modern Ballads

Weeks 6-12:
Thomas Carlyle, excerpts from Chartism
Margaret Oliphant, ‘The Library Window’:
J.M. Barrie, Peter Pan and Other Plays (World’s Classics, 2008)
George Douglas Brown, The House with the Green Shutters (Canongate, 1995)
Willa Muir, ‘Clock-a-doodle-do’
Lewis Grassic Gibbon, Sunset Song (Polygon, 2006)
Alasdair Gray, Lanark (Canongate, 2001)
Douglas Dunn ed., Twentieth Century Scottish Poetry (Faber, 2006)
Mick Imlah and Robert Crawford eds., Scottish Verse (Penguin, 2006) [as above]

SECONDARY READING

Secondary reading, suggested below, is designed to help you develop and broaden your understanding of the various themes and issues raised by particular texts or particular ideas explored on this course. The helpful and proper use of this critical material is an important skill to learn during your first year of literary study. It is expected that you demonstrate familiarity with some secondary reading in your longer essays.

Do not worry; you are certainly NOT expected to read everything listed! Rather you should decide what books and/or journal articles look most helpful or interesting to you for the purpose of writing an essay or preparing for a tutorial. Decide on a realistic and manageable amount: perhaps 3 or 4 items for an essay. You should regard the opinions of these writers and critics not as facts but as stimuli for your own thoughts; opinions which can be questioned and challenged in helping you to formulate your own perceptions.
Your tutor will be able to guide you in your secondary reading. You must learn how to use the Library’s electronic catalogue to search for other material in books or periodicals which might be of help.

Finally, you are not required to own any of these books. Many of them are to be found in the HUB Reserve and Short Loan section of the University Library. Should you have any difficulties there, the library staff will be glad to advise you.

Semester 1

Introductions to Literary Criticism and Theory

- ed. Dermot Cavanagh (et al.). The Edinburgh Introduction to Studying English Literature (Edinburgh: EUP, 2014) - This text book is based on our first-year lecture course, and covers much of the material included in the "forms and practices" part of the course in first semester.

Literary, Critical and Theoretical Dictionaries and Encyclopaedia

Help with Essay Writing

Introductions to Particular Forms and Genres of Literature

POETRY

PROSE FICTION

DRAMA

Semester 2

The most useful reading for you will be gaining a sense of how the writers on the course fit into historical and cultural traditions. You could start your reading by consulting the relevant sections of some of these books:

Cairns Craig (ed), The History of Scottish Literature, 4 vols (1987-89)
Gifford, Dunnigan and MacGillivray (eds.), Scottish Literature: In English and Scots (2006)
Gifford and MacMillan (eds), A History of Scottish Women’s Writing

Individual Periods and Authors

Next are some suggestions for individual periods and authors. Please consult tutors and lecture notes, and use the library catalogue to identify more specific reading to further your own ideas. None of these books is compulsory—use the library catalogue to expand your reading

MEDIEVAL and REFORMATION

The relevant medieval section in the recommended general histories will be helpful to you. In addition, see also:

18TH and 19TH CENTURIES

Fiona Robertson, Introduction to the World’s Classics: The Bride of Lammermoor
Penny Fielding, Writing and Orality: Nationality, Culture and Nineteenth Century Scottish Fiction (1996)
Liam McIlvaney, Burns the Radical: Politics and Poetry in Late Eighteenth-century Scotland (2003)
Gillian Hughes, James Hogg (2007)
Carol McGuirk, Robert Burns and the Sentimental Reader

MODERN AND CONTEMPORARY

Crawford and Nairn (eds), The Arts of Alistair Gray (1991)
Cairns Craig, The Modern Scottish Novel (1999)
Stevenson and Wallace (eds), Scottish Theatre Since the Seventies
Stevenson and Wallace (eds), The Scottish Novel Since the Seventies

GENERAL BACKGROUND READING

Some General Literary Histories

INTERNET RESOURCES

Students are encouraged to make use of the full range of electronic databases, both reference and full text, to which the University subscribes. You can find listings of these at: https://www.ed.ac.uk/schools-departments/information-services/services/library-museum-gallery/finding-resources/library-databases/databases-subject-a-z/database-literature

You will also want to be aware of those journals of literary criticism available online via the library website. Further information can be found at: https://www.ed.ac.uk/schools-departments/information-services/services/library-museum-gallery/finding-resources/find-ejournal

A useful website to be aware of is www.literature-compass.com (critical and reference materials for all literary periods).

The Association of Scottish Literary Studies has a useful 'essays and articles' resources page at: https://asls.arts.gla.ac.uk/Papers.html
STRUCTURE OF ASSESSMENT

You will be awarded a single final end-of-year mark for the course based on a combination of Coursework and Examinations.

In order to pass the course, you must:
1) submit all of the required coursework;
2) achieve a mark of over 40% in your Degree Examination paper; and
3) achieve an end-of-year mark of 40% or above.

STUDENTS REGISTERED FOR THE MA IN SCOTTISH LITERATURE, AND VISITING STUDENTS TAKING SCOTTISH LITERATURE 1 IN BOTH SEMESTERS 1 AND 2:

COURSEWORK

Your total mark for your coursework will consist of marks for two essays and one close reading, in addition to a tutorial assessment mark based on preparation for and participation in tutorials.

Your coursework constitutes 60% of your final mark for the course.

Mark for the 2,500 word essay submitted in Semester 1 week 11: 15%
Mark for the 2,500 word essay submitted in Semester 2 week 5: 15%
Mark for the 1,500-word close reading exercise submitted in Semester 2 week 5: 10%
Tutorial Assessment mark for the first semester: 10%
Tutorial Assessment mark for the second semester: 10%
Total Coursework element: = 60%

DEGREE EXAM

A three-hour examination at the end of Semester Two, during the Final Assessment period in April/May. = 40%

Your degree exam constitutes 40% of your final mark for the course.

Should any student fail to pass the degree exam at the first attempt, they will be permitted to resit the exam in the resit diet in August 2019. The resit will normally take the form of a three-hour sit-down exam, but in some circumstances students will be offered an alternative assessment in the form of an extended essay of the same rigour and addressing the same learning outcomes as the exam. Students have four attempts to pass the Degree Examination in total. Students are not allowed to resit a course or components of a course that they have passed in order to obtain a better mark.

In order to ensure a high quality and consistency of marking for this course, and across related courses, coursework and degree exam scripts will be moderated by sampled second marking. An academic colleague will review a number of marked essays and scripts and confirm the marks.

JOINT HONOURS STUDENTS REGISTERED FOR THE MA IN ENGLISH AND SCOTTISH LITERATURE:

You will take an additional ‘part course’, ‘Literature at the Borders’, alongside English Literature 1 and Scottish Literature 1 in Year 1, semester 1. The course is taught in weekly 50-minute tutorials. It is assessed with a 2000-word essay, due in semester two, week 2.

You will not have to write the English Literature 1 close reading. Your ‘Literature at the Borders’ assessment mark will be inserted in place of a mark for the English Literature 1 Close Reading Exercise and will contribute 10% to your final mark for English Literature 1.

The only Close Reading Exercise which you do have to submit is that for Scottish Literature 1.

COURSEWORK

All students on the course are required to complete all set coursework. The questions for these assignments will be published on LEARN, and you will have plenty of time to work on your essay prior to the deadline. All essays should refer only to materials which have been covered in the lecture programme and tutorials.

ALL assignments MUST be submitted, even if they will be marked at zero. An overall mark of 40% or higher constitutes a pass for Scottish Literature 1. However, if you reach this threshold but you have failed to submit an element of coursework, or have failed the degree exam, your final grade will have FF (“forced fail”) appended to it.

If you encounter problems in completing any of these assignments please contact the course organiser immediately.

FORMAT OF COURSEWORK

Written work must be word-processed using a standard application such as Microsoft Word. You should ensure also that you use the standard Times New Roman font, font size 12, and that your work is double-spaced, with ample margins. You should include a note of the Word Count on the front page of your essay.

The word limit set for essays includes quotations and any footnotes. This limit does not include the list of Works Cited.
For further guidance regarding format and presentation, and for advice on essay composition, please see the English Literature Writing Guide, available as a download from the department’s website and to be found on a link from this web page: https://www.ed.ac.uk/literatures-languages-cultures/english-literature/undergraduate/current/handbooks.

SUBMISSION OF ESSAYS

Students must submit coursework essays and close readings electronically by 2pm on the deadline day. Essays and close readings should be submitted to the appropriate Turnitin drop boxes: they are located in the Content Folder on LEARN for the course. LEARN is accessible via your MyEd. Please ensure that you submit your work to the correct box. If you experience difficulties submitting your essays, inform the course administrator immediately.

Before submitting your work, you should check that you have followed the guidance on the required style and format for written work, which is contained in the Course Handbook and “English Literature Writing Guide”.

When you submit your assignment you MUST:

- Include your name and Exam Number in the ‘Submission title’, which you complete as you upload your essay to Turnitin. The preferred format is <YourName>-<YourExamNumber>-EssayTitle e.g. JaneSmith-B012345- HamletEssay (It is fine to abbreviate a long essay title.)

Your Exam Number can be found on your Student Card. It begins with a “B”.
Without your name and exam number, your work might not be marked by your tutor and feedback might be less focused on and helpful for your personal development.

Essays must be submitted before 2 pm on the deadline day. It is your responsibility to submit essays on time and it is advisable to upload essays well before the deadline to avoid last minute problems and congestion.

In order to ensure that your essay is submitted correctly, you must CONFIRM your upload to Turnitin and wait to make sure that you receive a Digital Receipt. You should see the following appear on the screen: “Congratulations - your submission is complete! This is your digital receipt. You can print a copy of this receipt from within the Document Viewer”. You should also receive an email from TurnitinUK with the subject “This is your TurnitinUK Digital Receipt”. If you do not, log back in to View/Complete on the Turnitin dropbox right away and check your essay is there. If it is not, you will be able to upload it. If you have any problems, please contact the course administrator.
The assignment will be scanned by software which generates an ‘originality report’ to help you and your tutors ensure that you have referenced your sources correctly.

DEADLINES FOR ESSAY SUBMISSION

Essays must be submitted before 2 pm on the deadline day. It is your responsibility to submit essays on time and it is advisable to upload essays well before the deadline to avoid last minute problems and congestion.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Assignment</th>
<th>Degree Programme(s)</th>
<th>Deadline</th>
<th>Week</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Formative Essay (1000 words towards Scottish Literature 1 Essay 1)</td>
<td>All</td>
<td>2pm, Tuesday 29 October 2019</td>
<td>(Semester 1 Week 7)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Formative Essay (1000 words towards Literature at the Borders Essay)</td>
<td>MA English &amp; Scottish Literature ONLY</td>
<td>2pm, Monday 11 November 2019</td>
<td>(Semester 1 Week 9)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scottish Literature 1 Essay 1 (2,500 words)</td>
<td>All</td>
<td>2pm, Friday 29 November 2019</td>
<td>(Semester 1 Week 11)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literature at the Borders Essay (2,000 words)</td>
<td>MA English &amp; Scottish Literature ONLY</td>
<td>2pm, Monday 20 January 2020</td>
<td>(Semester 2 Week 2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poetry Close Reading Exercise (1,500 words)</td>
<td>All</td>
<td>2pm Tuesday 11 February 2020</td>
<td>(Semester 2 Week 5)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scottish Literature 1 Essay 2 (2,500 words)</td>
<td>All</td>
<td>2pm Tuesday 17 March 2020</td>
<td>(Semester 2 Week 10)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

LATE SUBMISSION OF ESSAYS

If you do miss the deadline for any reason, your assignment should still be submitted according to the process outlined above.

Please note that computer problems do not count as an excuse for late submission. It is up to you to foresee any potential problems in this or other regards and to manage your time accordingly. Factor in enough time to cope with a possible emergency.

EXTENSIONS TO DEADLINES

If illness or other good reason will prevent you from completing your written work on time, you should apply to the Course Administrator for an extension. You must complete the essay extension request form found at the following link: https://www.ed.ac.uk/literatures-languages-cultures/current-students/extension-request

You may also wish to consult your Personal Tutor. Computer problems and competing essay deadlines ARE NOT accepted as grounds for an extension or as a reason for late submission.
PENALTIES FOR LATE SUBMISSION

Essays submitted late without an extension form signed by the Course Administrator will incur a five mark penalty PER DAY of lateness, up to seven days. Essays submitted after that point, without good reason, will be marked at zero.

For example, for Essay 1:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Late Submission Interval</th>
<th>Penalty</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>After 2 pm on Friday but before 2 pm on Saturday</td>
<td>-5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After 2 pm on Saturday but before 2 pm on the following day (Sunday)</td>
<td>-10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After 2 pm on Sunday but before 2 pm on the following day (Monday)</td>
<td>-15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After 2 pm on Monday but before 2 pm on the following day (Tuesday)</td>
<td>-20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After 2 pm on Tuesday but before 2 pm on the following day (Wednesday)</td>
<td>-25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After 2 pm on Wednesday but before 2 pm on the following day (Thursday)</td>
<td>-30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After 2 pm on Thursday but before 2 pm on the following day (Friday)</td>
<td>-35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After 2 pm on the Friday following submission week</td>
<td>zero</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Please note that late submission is penalised not because it causes members of staff any extra work (generally speaking, it does not), but in the interests of fairness to those students, the vast majority, who work hard to get their work finished on time. The student who complains about being penalised for their essay being one hour late is complaining at not being given an extra hour to complete their essay that other students did not have: that is, they are complaining about not being privileged over their classmates by the department.

OTHER PENALTIES

In addition to penalisations for lateness, infringements of the rubric set for each essay will also result in a lowered essay mark. Ten marks may be deducted for rubric violations.

If your essay falls substantially short of the word length required, it is unlikely to be of the required standard, which will be reflected in the mark. Essays of less than half the required length are unlikely to receive a pass mark. Excessively long essays will not be marked beyond the word limit. This limit does not include the list of Works Cited.

COURSEWORK ASSESSMENT AND FEEDBACK

Feedback and marks will normally be provided within 15 working days of submission (in effect, three weeks). If your work is not marked within this timeframe, please notify the course organiser and/or undergraduate director. This timescale does not apply to exams. The University Christmas and New Year closure period is excluded from the 15 working day calculation.

It is important to note that the initial marks provided on LEARN in Grademark are provisional and are subject to moderation, application of penalties and final confirmation at the Exam Board.

Moderation is done by sampled second marking. This means that an academic colleague will review a number of marked essays and scripts to confirm the marks. This process ensures a high quality and consistency of marking for this course, and across related courses, coursework and degree exam scripts.

DEGREE EXAMINATION

The FINAL ASSESSMENT PERIOD runs from Monday 20 April (the start of Revision Week) to Friday 22 May 2020. The Degree Examination will be held during this period, and the exact date will be announced as soon as it is confirmed by the Examinations office. It will also be available via https://www.ed.ac.uk/timetabling-examinations/exams

It will consist of a three hour paper on the work of the second semester: "Writing and National Identity". Students will be required to answer three questions in the time available. These questions should be answered with reference only to appropriate materials which have been covered in the lecture programme and tutorials.

The consultation of books, dictionaries, or notes during the examination will not be permitted; the paper will not be made available to students before the start of the exam.

RELATION OF COURSEWORK ESSAYS TO EXAMS

In the exam, you may not repeat ‘material’ from your coursework essays; but what counts as ‘material’ requires definition. You may choose to discuss authors that you have already discussed in your coursework essays. You may also choose to address issues or ideas related to those explored in your coursework essays. But in the exam you should NOT address issues or ideas you have discussed in coursework essays by discussing the same authors that you used in the original essay. It is this, using the same author to make the same point, that counts as mere repetition of material from an essay and is disallowed.

Students should remember that, however similar the rubric, the questions asked in the exams will be substantially different from those set for the essays; and that exam answers will always be penalised for irrelevance to the question asked. In your revision for exams, you should therefore seek to consolidate your knowledge of the texts on the course and the critical and theoretical issues they raise. Merely reproducing material from your essay, composed in answer to a completely different question, will not earn good marks in the exam.
PLAGIARISM AND ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

Plagiarism is the use of material taken from another writer's work without proper acknowledgement, presenting it as if it were your own. While it is perfectly proper in academic study to make use of another person's ideas, to do so under the pretence that they are your own is deceitful. Plagiarism, whether in coursework or examinations, is always taken extremely seriously within the university as it is a form of cheating. Work found to be plagiarised may be penalised, assessed at zero, or not accepted, and in serious cases may lead to disciplinary action being initiated.

Work undertaken for our courses is designed to help you develop your knowledge and understanding, and your own powers of analysis and argument. Essays, exams and exam essays assess these skills. Plagiarism therefore undermines the whole purpose of the academic study of literature. For all work for the department’s courses, it is important to be aware of, and to acknowledge the sources of arguments and words. This applies to material drawn from critical books and lectures, but also from the work of other students (including tutorial or seminar discussions) and from the internet and other electronic sources. Tutors will check web-based material, as well as other sources, where they have reason to suspect that the writing a student submits does not represent their own ideas, words and arguments.

While deliberate plagiarism involves an intention to deceive and is easy to avoid, it is possible to fall unawares into practices which could be mistaken for plagiarism if you are not familiar with the proper means of using and acknowledging material from other writers. Inadequate referencing and inappropriate use of others' material could inadvertently lay you open to charges of plagiarism. You should also be aware that the resubmission of previously submitted work is classed as misconduct, just like plagiarism, and will be treated as such. You can refer to work that you’ve previously submitted in a new submission, but you need to cite clearly this pre-existing material in your new submission.

Since different subjects involve different uses of material, and may have different conventions about how it should be acknowledged, it is important that in each of their subjects students consult departmental guidelines about the purpose and presentation of written work in that discipline.

Aside from plagiarism, you must also avoid all other forms of academic misconduct. These include collusion, the unauthorised and unattributed collaboration of students in a piece of assessed work; falsification, the attempt to present fictitious or distorted data, evidence, references, citations, or experimental results, and/or to knowingly make use of such material; cheating, the attempt to obtain or to give assistance in an examination or an assessment without due acknowledgement. This includes submitting work which is not one's own; deceit, the use of dishonesty to gain an advantage; and personation, the assumption of the identity of another person with intent to deceive or gain unfair advantage.

For SL1, please consult the English Literature Writing Guide: https://www.ed.ac.uk/literatures-languages-cultures/english-literature/undergraduate/current/handbooks
FEEDBACK

The marks you receive for your work should always be understood in the light of the feedback that you will receive at the same time, and both marks and feedback should be read in the light of the Grade Descriptors published in the English Literature Writing Guide. All coursework is returned to you with feedback from the tutor or course organiser; for exams, generalised feedback on exam performance of the class as a whole is made available via the course’s Learn section, along with an opportunity to view your exam script upon request. Please contact the course administrator if you wish to see your exam script.

THE IMPORTANCE OF FEEDBACK

Learning is a process of communication between students and teachers, and feedback is essential to that process. It helps you identify your strengths and weaknesses, zero in on problem areas, and devise strategies to improve your performance. It helps you recognise variability and trends in your own performance, and where you stand in regard to your peers. Feedback is not an end in itself, but a tool for advancing the more important goal of learning.

WHAT FORMS DOES IT TAKE?

It is important to recognise the variable forms that feedback takes. There is more to it than just comments on individual pieces of work.

- When we think of feedback, we usually think first of written comments on specific essays, dissertations and sometimes on exams. Such feedback aims to give you some explanation of the mark you received, pointing out the main strengths and weaknesses, and suggesting what would have improved the performance. As already suggested, such feedback tells you something about that particular performance, but also about your general academic abilities.

- For pre-honours courses in English/Scottish Literature we also offer generalised feedback on exam performance to the class as a whole, via Learn, along with an opportunity to view your exam script in light of that feedback.

- It is important to remember that marks are themselves a form of feedback, providing a ranking of your performance in relation to others doing the same piece of assessment, and in relation to general standards of assessment performance. Grade descriptors are intended to give a guide to how assessment performance is judged. They provide a basic context for reading and understanding the meaning of a mark. See the English Department Writing Guide for grade criteria and descriptors.

- This course also gives you the opportunity to submit non-assessed work in semester one as a preparation for work that will be assessed later. Feedback on non-assessed work can be just as vital as feedback on assessed work, so you should make the most of this opportunity.

- One of the reasons you are encouraged to participate actively in discussions in seminars and workshops is that this is one of the most fruitful opportunities for feedback, for trying out ideas, exploring your understanding of material, and raising questions. It is for this reason that this course attaches a mark to tutorial participation in each semester.

HOW CAN STUDENTS GET THE MOST OUT OF FEEDBACK?

First off, as suggested above, you should be alert to the various forms that feedback takes. Beyond that, here are some suggestions:

- Learn more about study and assessment skills. There is a lot of helpful literature and guidance available. Two places to start are: (1) The Library. Books on ‘study skills’ are generally found under the Library of Congress call numbers LB2395. You can always ask a librarian for guidance. (2) The Institute for Academic Development (IAD): https://www.ed.ac.uk/schools-departments/institute-academic-development/undergraduate/advice.

- Try to consider the various forms of feedback you receive not as isolated events, but as part of an overall pattern of performance, identifying general areas of strength and weakness. This should become clearer the more you are assessed and the more feedback you receive as you progress through your programme. If you detect a consistent area where you need to improve, seek advice from your personal tutor, course tutor, or the course convenor about what to do.

- In the first instance, when trying to understand a mark and any associated comments, read these in the context of School marking descriptors. Marking descriptors are necessarily general, but may help put the feedback you’ve received in a wider context.

- If you have questions about a mark and associated comments on coursework, you are always entitled to seek clarification from either your tutor or the course organiser.

- For Examination papers, the department will need to retain the exam scripts until the final boards of examiners have been held. You may, however, ask to see your pre-honours scripts if you wish to do so once the marks have been finalised and published.

SCOTTISH LITERATURE POLICIES ON ASSESSMENT FEEDBACK

In line with University policy, assessment in Scottish Literature operates according to the following principles:

- Feedback on coursework is provided in written form. You may also ask your tutor or course organiser for additional comment and advice, where appropriate.

- There is a ‘fifteen working days’ turn-around time expected for mid-semester coursework assessment. If this turn-around time is not being met you, should bring this to the attention of the Undergraduate Director. This timescale does not apply to exams. The University Christmas and New Year closure period is excluded from the 15 working day calculation.
LitPALS

LitPALS is the Department’s ‘peer-assisted learning scheme’, aimed at helping you adapt to university life and study. In small informal groups, trained second-, third- and fourth-year literature students offer support to first-year literature students in fortnightly sessions during Semester 1 and 2.

The sessions are tailored to the experiences of new students, providing advice on study skills, using library resources, essay writing, exam preparation, and other academic issues, as well as offering a relaxed and confidential setting in which you can ask your own questions about your studies and university experience. It is also an excellent way to meet fellow students and find out about the social life in and around the university.

LitPALS meet fortnightly at 1pm in the ‘even’ weeks (week 2, week 4, etc) during Semester 1 and 2 (you will receive more detailed information on rooms and specific sessions by email).

If you’d like any more information at any time, please contact LitPALS (litpals@ed.ac.uk or on the LitPALS Facebook page) or Dr Benjamin Bateman (benjamin.bateman@ed.ac.uk).
VISITING STUDENTS

FULL YEAR VISITING STUDENTS

Students who are here for the whole year should take the course in the same way as the single honours home students. See under Assessment above for the weighting of coursework and examinations.

SEMESTER 1 ONLY VISITING STUDENTS

Visiting students who are enrolled for the Semester 1 only version of the course, ENLI08017 Scottish Literature 1A (VS1), will be set an additional essay to be submitted during the end of semester assessment period in December. In order to pass the course students must: (1) submit all required pieces of work and (2) achieve an end-of-semester mark of 40% or over.

The weighting of the various components taken by a Visiting Student, who is here for or who is taking the course for Semester 1 (Sept to Dec) only, is as follows:

First Semester:
- Mark for the 2,500 word essay submitted in week 11: 50%
- Tutorial Assessment mark for the first semester: 10%
- Additional Essay for Semester 1 only Visiting Students, 2,500 words, submitted in week 14 (before 2pm, Friday, 20 December 2019): 40%

SEMESTER 2 ONLY VISITING STUDENTS

January-entry Visiting Students will be set an additional essay to be submitted during the end of semester assessment period in April/May. They are not required to sit the degree examination. In order to pass the course students must: (1) submit all required pieces of work and (2) achieve an end-of-semester mark of 40% or over.

The weighting of the various components for Visiting Students who take the course for Semester 2 (January to April) only is as follows:

Second Semester:
- Mark for the 1,500-word close reading exercise submitted in Semester 2 week 5: 20%
- Mark for the 2,500 word essay submitted in Semester 2 week 10: 30%
- Tutorial Assessment mark for the second semester: 10%
- Additional Essay for Semester 2 only Visiting Students, 2,500 words, submitted during the final assessment period (April/May) (submission date: before 2 pm on Tuesday 5 May 2020): 40%
Making the most of University
Support from your University Careers Service

Your University Careers Service is here to support you from Day 1, not just your final year. We can assist you in finding semester-time, vacation and volunteering work to help you finance and add value to your university experience, alongside your studies. And we’re happy to help you explore your future direction, whatever year you’re in.

Whilst studying to gain the best degree you can is your priority, it’s also a good idea to take advantage of the wide range of opportunities open to you as an undergraduate. These include, volunteering, mentoring, taking on a role with a student society or club, study abroad, group projects, part time work, summer jobs, delivering presentations, work shadowing, to name but a few.

Getting involved with activities outwith your studies has many advantages. You can:

- Develop and demonstrate skills and attributes, such as teamwork, communication, time-management, customer service etc. Future employers will be looking for evidence of relevant skills from all areas of your life, not just your studies.
- Broaden your horizons – new experiences can change your perspective, provide new insights, alter your outlook, encourage you to consider different opportunities and directions.
- Discover your strengths – what you’re good at, what you enjoy, how you can use these strengths to your advantage in the workplace

Careers Service support includes:
- Semester and vacation work-opportunities
- Support with applications and interviews for semester and vacation work
- Volunteering opportunities nationwide and abroad
- Talking through your immediate and future plans with a Careers Adviser.
- Information specifically for early-years students https://www.ed.ac.uk/careers/your-future/year-by-year/early

Browse our website www.ed.ac.uk/careers for further information on all the above, or call in and see us on the 3rd floor of the Main Library Building, George Square.

Also check out what you can do with your degree via: https://www.ed.ac.uk/careers/your-future/options

Discover, for example:

- What recent English Literature graduates have gone on to do
- Your options with an English Literature degree
- After English – http://www.afterenglish.ac.uk/about a website dedicated to helping English Literature graduates plan for their future after graduation
Finally – look out for notices and emails about Careers Service activity in English Literature during the year, including regular bookable appointments for English Literature students only, and sessions of particular interest to English lit students.

We look forward to working with you on your plans for your future after graduation.
This section is designed to provide details of common policies which will be important throughout your studies. Some apply across the university, while others are specific to the School of Literatures, Languages and Cultures (LLC). Students are expected to familiarise themselves with these policies. More information on the statements below can be found by following the relevant links.

If you require this document, or any of the internal University of Edinburgh online resources mentioned in this document, in an alternative format, please contact Helene Thomsen, Undergraduate Administrator, English Literature. E-mail: Helene.Thomsen@ed.ac.uk Phone: 0131 650 3618.

POLICIES AND REGULATIONS

The Student Contract
http://edin.ac/1hvcRas

Successful study at University stems from a partnership between students and staff, and the University is committed to providing you with a learning environment and student services which enable you to fulfil your potential.

Use of Student E-mails
http://edin.ac/13z6Lte

We will communicate with you via your student e-mail account. It is essential that you check this regularly.

Attendance and Engagement Requirements
http://edin.ac/1sJ0Ofo

We monitor the engagement of students on our courses and programmes and this allows us to identify and offer help to those who may be experiencing difficulties. Failure to adequately engage can have a negative impact on your studies, and may ultimately lead to exclusion. There are additional and particular requirements for sponsored Tier 4 students – see http://edin.ac/2aPixLi for further information.

Obligations on Tier 4 Students
http://edin.ac/2aPixLi

As a Tier 4 student visa holder, it is your responsibility to comply with the conditions of your visa. Failure to follow these conditions will result in the University reporting you to the UKVI, a consequence of which will be the cancellation of your visa and withdrawal from the University of Edinburgh.
Taught Assessment Regulations

Information on the principles of assessment used by the University of Edinburgh.

Marking Scheme

An explanation of the marks and grades applied to coursework and exams.

Plagiarism and Academic Misconduct

Plagiarism is taken very seriously and incurs penalties. Follow the links provided to make sure you know what plagiarism is and how to avoid it.

Coursework submission

Formal assignments must normally be submitted electronically through the course Learn area. Check your assessment instructions for details. All electronic submissions will be reviewed by the plagiarism detection service Turnitin.

Extension requests for coursework submission

You can apply for an extension of up to 7 days by submitting a request before the assignment is due. Please note that penalties for late submission will be applied unless an extension request has been approved and this requirement applies to ALL students, including those who have an adjustment schedule.

Penalties for late coursework submission

Deductions for unauthorised late submission will be calculated as follows: 5 marks per calendar day for up to 7 days; zero awarded thereafter (Taught Assessment Regulation 28).

Coursework feedback

Feedback on in-course assessed work will be provided within 15 working days of submission, or in time to be of use in subsequent assessments within the course, whichever is sooner, but please note the following exceptions:

- This timescale does not apply to final in-course assessment, including exams.
- The University Christmas closure period is excluded from the 15 working day calculation.

(Taught Assessment Regulation 16)
Accessing marked coursework and feedback

After a piece of coursework has been marked, you will be able to view it – along with the mark and all related feedback – in Learn. You will find the assessment in the same location that you submitted it.

Exam Diet Dates

You will find dates of forthcoming exam diets at the link here, as well as exam timetables once available. Please note that exam diets are scheduled centrally and the School is unable to influence this.

Past Exam Papers

You can look at exam papers from previous years at the link here.

Use of dictionaries in examinations

Please note that this is not permitted, except in a few specific cases where all students on a course are allowed to do so.

Degree Progression Requirements

You will find full details of progression requirements in the Degree Programme Table for your degree. Please note that entry into Honours is normally by achievement of a mark of 50 or higher at the first attempt in all the compulsory second-year courses of your registered degree. There may be additional requirements for language students.

RESOURCES AND SUPPORT

Living and studying in Edinburgh

A valuable source of information on all aspects of student life.

Learn

Learn is the University’s Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) and is used for course information, discussion forums, coursework submission and so on.

Support for Success in LLC

This Learn site has been designed to provide you with the information, tools and resources you need to get the best out of your degree. Here you will find content related to study skills, academic and professional development, useful software, employability, and pastoral care.
and support.

Students on a degree programme with LLC as the home subject area will be automatically enrolled on this course, visible when you launch Learn.

---

Path

http://edin.ac/1oUJqQN

Path is a neat tool to allow you to view your course selections and possible options throughout your degree programme.

---

Your Timetable

https://edin.ac/13z6Lte

You can gain secure, private access to your personalised timetable via MyEd, and your Office 365 Calendar. To request changes to tutorials, use the Timetabling request form: http://edin.ac/2FqHL3R.

---

Library and computing facilities

http://edin.ac/1JKRyZ5

Information on library services, computer facilities and basic computer training.

---

LLC Resource Centre

http://edin.ac/1npNrbo

The Resource Centre at 50 George Square provides access to films and documentaries, video and audio editing facilities, and more.

---

Edinburgh University Students’ Association (EUSA)

http://edin.ac/19uBr2s

Find out how to seek help from or get involved with your students’ association.

---

Careers Service

http://edin.ac/15gDcSM

Useful links to information on part-time, vacation and graduate jobs, year abroad opportunities and general careers advice.

---

Student Disability Service

http://edin.ac/14iCSCf

All students with a long-term or chronic condition (physical or mental) should contact the Student Disability Service as early as possible in order to take advantage of the help and advice available.

---

Support and advice for students in LLC

http://edin.ac/1BGckIz

General advice and FAQs for students studying in the School of Literatures, Languages and Cultures.
Student Support and Personal Tutors

http://edin.ac/1ogOIQv

Your Personal Tutor will be your first point of contact for all academic matters relating to your degree programme and choice of courses. Your Personal Tutor will also provide academic references. All students will have one meeting with their Personal Tutor each semester, and group meetings may also be arranged.

The LLC Student Support team will be the first point of contact for all administrative matters and pastoral care. The Student Support team deal with status letters, degree transfers, concessions and authorised interruption of studies; they can also offer guidance and information on all support services available to students at the University.

Special Circumstances

https://edin.ac/2N8ab2O

If your academic performance is affected by circumstances such as illness, you will find advice here.

Study advice and support

http://edin.ac/1Lh2d16

Students are encouraged to take advantage of the study support offered by the Institute for Academic Development.

Counselling Service

https://edin.ac/2N33Wxb

The Counselling Service aim to support you to make the most of your student experience at the University of Edinburgh. They offer a wide range of support including instant access self-help resources, drop-in presentation workshops, short term counselling and consultation.

Emergency Contacts and Nightline

https://edin.ac/2N7FkDM

If you need assistance as a matter of urgency either during normal working hours (Monday-Friday, 9a.m. to 5p.m.) or in the evening or at the weekend and you are uncertain who to contact, please consult the information available at the link above.

Peer support

https://edin.ac/2N5thXs

Peer Support in the context of the University means a student with more experience sharing their knowledge, skills, abilities and expertise with a new or less experienced student. Peer Support may focus around advancing your academic work, providing opportunities to socialise with other students within your School or offering additional support to ensure your wellbeing while at University. Edinburgh University Students’ Association (EUSA) and the University have been widely developing the Peer Support Project across the University since 2012.

Different forms of Peer Support are available throughout LLC; if you would like to become involved in a peer support scheme, please speak to your Course Organiser or Personal Tutor or contact EUSA for more information: peer.support@eusa.ed.ac.uk.

Student feedback and Staff-Student Liaison

http://edin.ac/2pkJuir

Students have various opportunities to provide feedback, both informally (e.g. by speaking to staff) and formally (e.g. through end-of-course questionnaires). Staff members at the University of Edinburgh work closely with student representatives. Edinburgh University Students’ Association (EUSA) coordinates student representation and provides training and support for student representatives across the University. Student representatives (‘Reps’) listen to you to identify areas for improvement, suggest solutions, and ensure that your views inform strategic decisions within the University, building a stronger academic community and improving your student life. Schools share students’ emails with their student representatives as a matter of course; any student wishing to opt out from this should inform the Course Secretary.