What was your internship?

Vet Clinical Skills Public Engagement Intern at the Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies

Description of your role and responsibilities

"The intern will be working with the Clinical Skills team assisting in the development of strategies, activities and resources to enhance Public Engagement and Admissions and Recruitment for the School. This will include developing self-directed learning activities and resources for important in-house events such as Student Open Days and Open Doors days, as well as off-site events such as the Highland Show and school outreach visits."

What interested you in this specific role?

An interest in working in the education sector after graduating. I thought that working in the department, especially both producing and running activities would develop skills I would need in a graduate job.

Have you benefited from this experience?

Yes, it has been a rewarding way to spend a summer.

What advice would you give to future interns?

Don't worry if it takes you a little while to make any kind of impact- that's normal when starting a job. It's a fantastic opportunity and you'll hopefully develop lots of useful skills and enjoy yourself along the way.
