

The Hutton Club

Friday 12th December

Prof. David Battisti

Department of Atmospheric Sciences, University of Washington

On the fourth day of Christmas, Hutton Club gave to me.....four mocking birds, three french hens, two turtle doves, and a motorway that's traffic free.

Landscapes and climate: the impact of large orographic features on precipitation

4pm – Old Library, Drummond St

Drinks and snacks will be provided but will be covered up in the corner

#ChristmasHuttonClub