

The Hutton Club

In highly secretive collusion with Edinburgh Earth Observatory

Friday 3rd February

Dr. Austin Tate

Artificial Intelligence Applications Institute, School of Informatics –
University of Edinburgh

Hey Tony, have you been sending rocks to spy on us again? I mean, I've heard of Earth Observation but this is ridiculous!

Look, come on Vladimir – you know its my policy never to make comments on intelligence. Or was that intelligent comments? I can't remember. Let's have a beer at the Hutton Club and forget all about it...

'The Helpful Environment - geographically dispersed intelligent systems that collaborate'

Old Library – Geography – 4 pm

Refreshments will be hidden behind fake bookcase at back of room.
