

Frequently asked questions

- How long is each oral presentation?
The oral presentations should be 10 minutes in length.
- How long is each lightning talk?
The lightning talk presentations should be 3 minutes in length.
- Will you show all recorded presentations one after the other? Will there then also be a possibility for people to ask questions?
The pre-recordings will be used to create a parallel session recording which will be played during your particular session. At the end of the recorded talks, the session facilitator will ask for questions. These will be asked either via “chat” or the individual posing the question will be asked to speak directly.
- My colleagues have had an abstract accepted for an oral presentation. They will do the prerecording for this together, however, only one of them will attend on the day. Do they both need to register and pay, or both register and only one pay?
Only the delegate who will attend on the day needs to pay the registration fee/complete the registration form.
