We increased the involvement of plants in peoples’ lives by encouraging students to take their first steps to growing their own food. Our project demonstrated how simple a task this can be by showing our members how to plant and maintain indoor herb gardens.