University of Edinburgh Policy regarding English language entry requirements

1. Purpose

1.1 All applicants to the University are asked to demonstrate a level of English language competency, irrespective of their nationality or country of residence.

1.2 This policy establishes a single, comprehensive position on how English language competence is assessed for entry to undergraduate and postgraduate study at the University of Edinburgh, to ensure fairness and transparency for all applicants.

1.3 The policy distinguishes between the assessment of English for admissions purposes, and compliance with UK Visas and Immigration (UKVI) visa regulations.

2. Scope

2.1 This policy applies University-wide and to all applicants; undergraduate, postgraduate taught, postgraduate research, online learning, and visiting students, except for visiting postgraduate research students who will be at the University for less than 12 weeks.

3. General principles

3.1 The University has a responsibility to ensure that all students have a sufficient level of English language competence to undertake and derive full benefit from their chosen programme of study, and to contribute to a positive learning environment for all.

3.2 Applicants from a non-majority English-speaking country who require a student visa to study in the UK must also meet UKVI English language requirements for the University to sponsor them for a visa.

3.3 The minimum grade or score required in an approved test or qualification will be determined by the admitting College and may vary by programme, according to the level of English competence required. The English language requirement for the most commonly presented qualifications is included in the entry requirements section for each degree programme in the online Degree Finder.

4. Accepted qualifications

4.1 The English language qualifications that the University accepts which meet both English language competence and student visa requirements are listed on the University website.

These qualifications have been assessed through the University’s Admissions Qualifications Subgroup (AQS) as meeting the standards in all four language competencies required by applicants who are not a national of a majority English-speaking country, as defined by UKVI, even if the qualifications do not explicitly provide an assessment outcome for each competency.
4.2 The University may also accept English qualifications to meet its undergraduate English language competence requirements which have not been approved by AQS as meeting student visa English language requirements, for example, the US High School Diploma. These qualifications are detailed on the country pages of the University website.

An applicant who is not a national of a majority English-speaking country and who requires a student visa would require an English language qualification from the list outlined in 4.1 at the appropriate level, in addition to a qualification in this category.

4.3 The following English language tests expire after two years: IELTS, TOEFL, Pearson Test of English and Trinity ISE. This is indicated on the English language entry requirements pages on the University website.

Where an applicant holds an English language test with a two-year expiry, the award date must be no more than two years from the start date of the programme. In cases where the award date is older, applicants will be asked to take a new test or to provide one of the other English qualifications the University accepts.

4.4 Other than the qualifications listed in 4.3 above, qualifications used to meet English language requirements by applicants who are not nationals of a majority English-speaking country must be no more than three and a half years old on the start date of the programme.

Qualifications for undergraduate applicants only

4.5 The University accepts completion of all Foundation English for Academic Purposes modules taken as part of its International Foundation Programme at specified grades to meet English language requirements for undergraduate degree programmes.

4.6 Military Service – Applicants from Singapore who have met the English language entry requirements through an accepted qualification but who have undertaken military service in Singapore after leaving school can be accepted based on accepted school qualifications up to three and a half years from the time they left school, rather than from the date when they achieved the qualification.

Applicants from other countries who are required to undertake compulsory military service before starting an undergraduate degree will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

Qualifications for postgraduate and graduate-entry applicants only

4.7 The University accepts previous undergraduate or postgraduate degree-level study, including one-year Masters programmes and PGCE/PGDE teaching qualifications, which have been taught and assessed in English in a majority English-speaking country. Applicants who are not nationals of a majority English-speaking country and whose qualification is older than three and a half years will be considered on a case-by-case basis. The process for further consideration is set out in Section 10.

4.8 The University accepts undergraduate or postgraduate degree-level study, including one-year Masters programmes, awarded by some universities in non-majority English-speaking countries where teaching and assessment are conducted in English. Accepted degrees must be awarded by universities that have been assessed by the University’s Admissions Qualification Group (AQS) in accordance with the process set out in Section 11. See the list of approved universities.
4.9 The University does not accept undergraduate or postgraduate qualifications awarded by UK universities where all study has taken place at an overseas campus in a non-majority English-speaking country unless the overseas campus has been assessed and approved in accordance with the process set out in Section 11.

4.10 The University does not accept degrees taught and assessed entirely online as evidence of English language proficiency, except for online degrees awarded by the University of Edinburgh. Degrees awarded by the Open University can be accepted from applicants who are nationals of a majority English-speaking country only.

4.11 The University accepts undergraduate or postgraduate degree-level qualifications jointly awarded by the University of Edinburgh with partner universities in non-majority English-speaking countries where teaching and assessment are conducted in English, even if the partner universities are not on the list of approved universities.

4.12 The University accepts Dual/Joint award qualifications awarded by a UK university with a partner university in China, where the degree is licenced by the Chinese Ministry of Education, and is included on the Ministry’s published list of approved joint degrees. A translation of this list will be published on the University’s website and updated on an annual basis.

4.13 The University may consider Dual/Joint award qualifications awarded by a UK university with a partner university in a non-majority English-speaking country on a case-by-case basis, through the University’s due diligence process. Any degrees approved through this process will be published on the University’s website.

4.14 Degree transfers – if a student transfers to a university in a majority English-speaking country or to an approved university in a non-majority English-speaking country to complete their degree, this can be used to meet our English language requirements providing:

- The degree studies in the majority English-speaking country or at the approved university have been taught and assessed in English;
- The time spent studying in the majority English-speaking country or at the approved university makes up at least 50% of the duration of the degree; and
- The student has spent at least one year at the approved university following the transfer, which must include the final year of their degree.

4.15 Professional registration and English language qualifications for professional purposes may also be approved for entry providing they constitute a formal assessment of English language competence to the required standards, and they have been approved by the Admissions Qualifications Group following the arrangements set out in Section 11. Any professional qualifications approved for entry will be published on the University website.

4.16 The University accepts satisfactory completion of its pre-sessional English for Academic Purposes programmes before the start date of a postgraduate degree programme. Pre-sessional English programmes delivered by other universities can be accepted on the same basis, providing they have been assessed and approved by AQS. Any approved pre-sessional English programmes will be listed on the University website. Pre-sessional English programmes will have an expiry period of two years from the date awarded.

Evidence which cannot be accepted

4.17 The following do not meet the University’s English language requirements, because they do not constitute a formal assessment of English language competence:
5. Student Visa requirements

5.1 Applicants who require a student visa must have an English qualification that is at an equivalent level to at least B2 on the Common European Framework for Reference (CEFR), unless they are a national of a majority English-speaking country as defined by UKVI (see Appendix 1).

5.2 The English language qualifications and tests approved by the University of Edinburgh to meet student visa English language requirements are detailed on the University website.

5.3 The English language competency requirements exceed student visa requirements. Any margin of flexibility in University English language requirements for admissions purposes will remain above the UVKI requirement.

6. Students transferring to the University of Edinburgh

6.1 Students who transfer to the University of Edinburgh through a formal partnership arrangement and who have been taught and assessed in English for at least one year at the partner university will be considered to have met the University’s requirement for English language competence.

6.2 Students who transfer to the University of Edinburgh from a university in a majority English-speaking country, or from a university which has been approved through the University of Edinburgh’s due diligence process, will be considered to have met the University’s requirement for English language competence based on a minimum of one year’s successful study in English at their previous institution. This includes students on 2+2 degrees.

6.3 Students who transfer to the University of Edinburgh from a university in a non-majority English-speaking country which has not been approved through the University of Edinburgh’s diligence process will be required to provide an acceptable English language qualification to demonstrate that they meet the University’s requirement for English language competence.

7. Visiting student applicants

7.1 Visiting undergraduate students must meet the English language competence requirements.

7.2 Visiting postgraduate students must meet the published English language competence requirements for their degree programme.

7.3 Visiting students who require a student visa must have an English qualification that is at an equivalent level to at least B2 on the Common European Framework for Reference (CEFR) unless they are a national of a majority English-speaking country as defined by UKVI (see Appendix 1).

7.4 Visiting students from a university in a majority English-speaking country, or from a university which has been approved through the University of Edinburgh’s due diligence process, will be considered to have met the University’s requirement for English language competence based on a minimum of one year’s successful study in English at their previous institution.
8. University of Edinburgh English language test

8.1 University of Edinburgh English Language Education (ELE) has developed an English language test which has been assessed as robust and secure, and at the required level to comply with student visa regulations. ELE can therefore provide English language testing for students who are unable to access an English language test locally for exceptional reasons. These include applicants for the Mastercard Foundation Scholars Programme, applicants with refugee or asylum seeker status, and applicants from countries disrupted by local emergencies. Staff should contact the Head of Admissions in Student Recruitment & Admissions for advice on countries currently covered by this arrangement.

9. Record keeping for applicants requiring a student visa

9.1 Evidence of English language qualifications must be recorded in the applicant’s EUCLID record. This includes, for example, copies of English language tests or qualification certificates, degree certificates from institutions in the Home Office designated majority English-speaking countries list or which have been approved through the University of Edinburgh due diligence process, and scans of a passport photo page confirming nationality. In all cases, admissions staff should use the notes section on the EUCLID application record to clearly state the evidence obtained. All records must be retained until 12 months following graduation.

10. Process for the consideration of flexibility

10.1 All applicants are expected to meet the English language requirements set out in this policy. However, the University recognises that there may be occasions where an individual’s circumstances justify the consideration of additional information. For example, if an applicant has a degree that meets the requirements of the policy but is now out of date, evidence that the applicant has continued to live and work or study in a majority English-speaking country since graduation may be taken into account in determining whether the applicant meets the appropriate academic English language standards.

10.2 Each College has a process by which a case for the consideration of flexibility can be raised by staff to a delegated senior person within the College who will assess the request for validity. Colleges may delegate responsibility for managing this process to individual Schools where admissions operations are carried out within Schools. However, the process of delegation must be a formal one overseen by the main College Admissions Office.

10.3 Where a case is raised within a College or School and the delegated person in the College believes additional consideration should be given, the following process should be followed:

10.3.1 Details of the applicant’s circumstances, and any supporting evidence, should be provided by the delegated person to the Head of Admissions in Student Recruitment & Admissions using the English language flexibility request form, which is available on the Student Recruitment & Admissions wiki.

10.3.2 The Head of Admissions will assess the evidence provided and will decide whether the case for flexibility can be determined based on delegated authority from the convenor of the Student Recruitment Strategy Group.

10.3.3 Where the case for flexibility falls out with the Head of Admissions’ delegated authority, the decision on whether flexibility can be granted will be taken by the Director of Student Recruitment & Admissions.
Decisions on two categories of English language flexibility requests have been delegated to the Colleges and can be determined by senior members of College admissions staff who have been given that responsibility by the Head of the College. These categories are:

10.4.1

- Where an applicant has successfully completed a degree in a majority English-speaking country or at an approved university more than 3.5 years previously, or
- has met English language entry requirements with an IELTS or TOEFL test which is between 2 and 3.5 years old and
- where there is documentary evidence in the form of work references and/or payslips or tax documents confirming that the student has lived and worked continuously in a MESC since graduation or the date of their English language test.

10.4.2

- Where a student has an IELTS or TOEFL test which is within the 2-year expiry date but which is below the entry requirement for their degree, but which is at or above the agreed University of Edinburgh minimum requirement.

11. Process for the assessment of English language qualifications for entry

11.1 The University’s Admissions Qualifications Subgroup (AQS), reporting to the Student Recruitment Strategy Group (SRSG), carries out due diligence on all qualifications before their acceptance for University entry purposes.

11.2 The following criteria will be applied when considering the acceptability of new qualifications:

- Does the curriculum and/or method of assessment provide evidence of competence in all four components, (reading, writing, speaking, listening)?
- Is the method of assessment sufficiently secure and robust?
- Is there sufficient compelling evidence that students meeting the University’s English language requirements via the method of assessment will be able to undertake and derive full benefit from their studies?

11.3 The minimum grade or score required in an approved qualification for entry to a specific programme will be determined by the admitting College. In all cases, this will be at or above the level required for student visa purposes.

11.4 Lists of qualifications and tests accepted for undergraduate and postgraduate entry purposes will be published on the University website and maintained by Student Recruitment & Admissions, based on decisions made by the AQS and SRSG.

Qualifications which are no longer approved for entry

11.5 If it is decided that a qualification which was previously accepted as meeting English language competency requirements is no longer to be accepted, AQS will formally confirm this decision in order to provide a clear audit trail of any such decisions.

12. Policy review

12.1 This policy will be reviewed annually by the Student Recruitment and Fees Strategy Group and revised in light of changes in legislation and University regulations and strategic objectives.
