

Ancients and Moderns in the Scottish Enlightenment

Third Workshop

30 August 2011

NB: This workshop will not take place in IASH, but in seminar room G.13, School of History, Classics and Archaeology, Doorway 4, Teviot Place, Edinburgh EH8 9AG.

10.00 – 10.30 am	Tea and coffee
10.30 – 10.40 am	Colin Kidd: ‘Introduction: Ancients, Moderns and the Historiography of the Enlightenment’
10.40 – 11.20 am	Giovanni Gellera: ‘A modern interpretation of Aristotle in the debate on transubstantiation’.
11.20 – 12.00 pm	Mark Elliott: ‘The eclipse of the patristic tradition in the shadow of the Westminster divines, 1650-1750’.
12.00 – 12.40 pm	John Robertson: ‘Andrew Fletcher and the classics’.
12.40 – 1.30 pm	Lunch
1.30 – 2.10 pm	John Cairns: ‘Roman Law and Scottish slavery’.
2.10 – 2.50 pm	M. A. Stewart: ‘Hume and the debate on Ossian versus “ancient” epic’.
2.50 – 3.30 pm	Alexander Broadie: ‘Ancients and moderns on the painting of virtue’.
3.30 – 4 pm	Tea and coffee
4 – 5.30 pm	General discussion: publication plans and possible future projects.
6.30 pm	Dinner

The event is funded by a Research Workshop Award from the Royal Society of Edinburgh.